Mme. Chiang Warns of Japan's Vast Resources

Calls for Crushing of Nippon's Armed Might In Spectacular Address Before U. S. Congress.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek today told the house of representatives that it was contrary to the interests of the United Nations "to allow Japan to continue, not only as a vital potential threat but as a waiting sword of Damocles, ready to descend at a moment's notice."

Speaking in the crowded house chamber the American-educated wife of the Chinese generalissimo declared:

"Let us not forget that Japan in her occupied areas today has greater resources at her command than Germany

"Let us not forget that the longer Japan is left in undisputed possession of these resources the stronger she must become Each passing day takes more toll in lives of both Americans and Chinese.

"Let us not forget that the Japanese are an intransigent people

"Let us not forget that during the first four-and-a-half years of total aggression China has borne Japan's sadistic fury unaided and alone."

Calling for a crushing of Japanese military might she said.

SENDS 1,000 PROBERS AFTER MEAT 'LEGGERS

Action Follows Freeze on All Canned Meat and Fish Sales Today.

RATION DUE IN APRIL

Capone Mob Remnants Linked To Illegal Selling In Chicago Area.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The Office of Price Administration today coupled its "freeze" on canned fish and canned meat sales, a prelude to rationing, with the disclosure that 1,000 investigators have been ordered on duty to smash a spreading meat black market that embraces remnants of the old Capone gang

On the heels of an announcement that sales of canned salmon, sardines, tuna, mackerel, shrimp, clams, oysters and meats were banned at 12:01 a. m., this morning until rationing begins about April 1, the OPA moved to plug the illegal black market which has contributed to the maldistribution of scarce meat supplies.

Reporting that an estimated 1,000 investigators have been assigned to the black market probe, a majority of the agency's total enforcement staff, a high OPA official said

"We are well aware of this alarming situation We regard it as our No. 1 enforcement problem But I am confident it can be smashed. We are going to step on it and step hard The black markets in tires and gasoline have been pretty well cleaned up. Meat is next."

The official confirmed that Chicago is one of the worst spots in the country, where remnants of the Capone mob, which made a fortune out of liquor bootlegging, have set out to reap a harvest through illegal sale of meat. He acknowledged the Capone gang's entrance into the picture.

"We have indication of that," he said "We're going after it, aided by the FBI."

"It is a tough job, though The black market operators do not keep books or records. We have

GET ORDERS ON POINT RATIONS

370 Mansfield, County School Teachers Given Instructions By Superintendents.

The OPA's detailed instruction for "point rationing" registration today were in the hands of 370 Mansfield and Richland county teachers who will be responsible for the big undertaking next week

Earlier announcement of the OPA that a speaker would come to detail the registration plans did not materialize with the result that the school superintendents will assume responsibility for instructing teachers in their districts.

Supt. W. L. Miller held a meeting of city principals for this purpose when he passed out the explanatory literature. Schools heads will, in turn, instruct their teachers this week, Miller said.

County Superintendent Boyd Robinson mailed similar instructions to principals and teachers of schools in the county system

Rationing at the city schools will be between the hours of 1.30 and 5 p m. and 6 30 and 9 p m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday with afternoon hours only on Friday. Richland county schools will complete their registration in two days. Thursday and Friday between the hours of 9 a m and 8 p m

Both Miller and Robinson said that details were complete and well planned and that in their opinion, the instructors would experience no difficulty in the third great registration, especially since they had done similar work in the registration for other rationing.

Motorists to Get Ample Gasoline to Go to, From Jobs

WASHINGTON —(UP) — The office of price administration today relaxed gasoline rationing restrictions to enable motorists to obtain as much gasoline as necessary to carry them to and from their jobs regardless of the distance

Under the new order, workers are permitted to obtain "C" ration books — previously restricted to essential workers, physicians, etc.—if a "B" books is inadequate and there is no other means of transportation to their place of employment.

OPA emphasized that the new regulation applies only to those who suffer 'unreasonable hardship" under the present rules which allow non-essential workers a maximum of 470 miles a month

U. S. Sets Up New Field Unit In Australia.

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Formation of the 6th U S. army in Australia under command of Lieut Gen Walter Krueger was announced today by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson.

The 6th army will include most American combat troops in the southwest Pacific. Formation of this army was recommended by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander of Allied forces in that area, because American strength there had reached a point where formation of a field army became desirable.

Secretary Stimson declined to make any interpretation of the significance of the move with respect to Allied offensive plans against the Japanese in the Pacific.

Nazis Climax 66-Mile Drive With Captures

Take Sbeitla, Kasserine and Feriana as British Reach Mareth Line In Swift Advance In South; U. S. Suffers 'Severe Defeat.'

By ROGER GREENE
(By Associated Press)

Allied headquarters announced today veteran German tank columns had occupied three key towns near the center of the 300-mile-long Allied front in central Tunisia, while in the south the British 8th army reached the Axis-held Mareth line at two points after a 45-mile advance.

Severely mauled by the heavily-armored Germans, the Americans withdrew into the mountains below Tebessa, 12 miles inside Algeria from the Tunisian frontier.

Front-line reports said the American tank formations, fighting their first all-out battle of the war against the Nazis, suffered a decisive defeat at the hands of the big new German Mark VI tanks.

Field dispatches said it was strongly indicated the German attack succeeded in destroying American armored strength to such a degree that a successful counter-attack in the near future was unlikely.

Doubt was expressed, however, that the enemy would attempt to reach out much farther and thus risk flanking attacks by Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's advancing British 8th army in the south and by Lieut Gen K. A. N. Anderson's British 1st army in the north.

In Washington, Secretary of War Stimson said U. S. Tunisian forces had suffered a "serious local setback' which "would not be minimized but still less should it be exaggerated."

Stimson said the Nazi drive, executed while the British 1st army was "mud bound" in the north, apparently was intended only to widen the Axis-held coastal corridor and was not the beginning of a large-scale enemy offensive.

A bulletin from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said the Germans swept into Sbeitla, Kasserine and Feriana, climaxing a 66-mile thrust from the Faid pass region in four days.

Feriana lies only 12 miles from the Tunisian - Algerian frontier. Sbeitla is 31 miles north of Feriana, and Kasserine lies about mid-way between the other two towns.

This indicated the Allies had withdrawn on a 30-mile front, but Washington military quarters said yesterday stronger Allied lines were prepared in the hills to the rear and predicted the Germans would find these hard to overrun.

An Allied communique said fighting yesterday was "on a reduced scale" despite the rapid advance of the enemy.

Spearheading the German offensive, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was reported using a full tank division, with a second armored division in reserve, against total American strength of not more than one "short" division of all types of troops in the front line.

An Italian communique said armor-supported Allied troops had counter-attacked in Tunisia after Axis forces "occupied more enemy positions."

The Fascist war bulletin did not give the locale of the action, but asserted that the thrust had been repulsed.

The swift-striking British, racing to ease the pressure on American troops in the northwest, rolled up to the 60-mile-long Mareth fortifications near the middle at Medenine and in the Foum Tatahouine area 30 miles to the south, it was reported officially.

Medenine is less than 130 miles southeast of Gafsa, advanced Allied base in central Tunisia, where

BUMPS WINCHELL

Knox Orders Commentator on Navy's Inactive List.

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Secretary of the Navy Knox informed the house naval committee today he had ordered Walter Winchell, newspaper columnist and radio commentator and a lieutenant commander in the naval reserve, placed on inactive duty

"I think the secretary did the proper thing," said Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.), committee chairman.

Beyond the bare announcement, there was no explanation, but Rep Hoffman (R-Mich.) recently charged Winchell on the house-floor with making "inflamatory" and derogatory remarks about members of congress in his radio broadcasts

Knox previously informed the committee that Winchell was on active duty as a lieutenant commander when he made several statements about which Hoffman complained.

Move for Repeal of Time Law Gains; Council Acts Tonight

While a movement seeking repeal of time change legislation by the state legislature today gained momentum, Mansfield's city council members unofficially indicated their voting at tonight's special session will favor no change until fall when clocks would be set back one hour.

Individual members report receipt of many calls generally favoring retention of the present "fast" war time and this morning 72 employes of the Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company filed a petition with City Clerk Robert Black asking "that Eastern War time be retained, notwithstanding the action of the legislature of Ohio and the governor's approval of that action."

Richland county commissioners were to meet this afternoon to determine which clock time will be followed by county offices although it previously had been held that a county government is a function of the state and, as such, must conform to the time act signed by Gov. John W. Bricker yesterday and which will set Ohio's clocks back one hour at 3 a. m. Sunday.

Two ordinance proposals will be presented to council tonight, one providing that present war time

WIDER: Reds Increase Wedges In Nazi Lines, Pierce Donets

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW—The Red army is smashing westward and widening its wedges in the Kharkov and Kursk sections at the northern end of the active Russian-German battlefront, and its columns have pierced deeper into Donets basin territory in drives threatening the Germans retreating from Rostov, the Russians announced today

Some of the actions were described as cleaning out the remnants of German strongholds left in the rear of Soviet troops which had swept around them for spectacular gains

(The Germans admitted today the fall of Kharkov which the Russians announced two days ago.

(The city of Kharkov was evacuated by our troops after systematic destruction of its important installations," the high command's communique said

(The communique claimed that Red army thrusts north of Kursk and south of Lake Ladoga were repelled.)

"West of Kharkov our troops continued their successful offensive, inflicting heavy blows on the remnants of routed German units," the Russians said. "The Hitlerite path of retreat is covered with the bodies of dead enemy officers and men as well as with abandoned German heavy and light arms."

The Kharkov offensive carried into Bogoduknov, 36 miles to the northwest on the railroad to Sumy, to Zmiev, 22 miles southeast of Kharkov, and Alekseevskoe, 38 miles south of Kharkov, just east of the rail line and north of Lozovaya.

(Destruction of 100 German tanks and other enemy war gear in a town north of Kharkov was recounted today in the Russian

'TALK DRIVE': Nazis Trying to Split U. S.-Britain and Russia

(By United Press)

The Axis, reeling under successive military disasters in Russia, was launching a propaganda campaign today to dangle the specter of communism before the United States and Britain and hinted that a negotiated peace would be acceptable

European advices reported that German propagandists had embarked upon their most determined campaign to convince Americans and Britons that a Soviet victory over Germany would result in the "bolshevization" of Europe and perhaps the world.

Walther Brell, chief of the Ankara bureau of the official German news agency DNB, was quoted as spreading word that the Anglo-Saxon nations would do well to reach a "gentlemen's understanding" with Germany before it is too late to halt the Soviet "menace."

Fritz Matsel, ace German propagandist, also was in Turkey plugging the familiar "Red menace" theme.

Ankara reports said Joseph

Your Federal Income Tax

NO. 40; BASIS OF GAIN OR LOSS (PART 2)

The basis for determining gain or loss, for Federal income tax purposes, where the property exchanged had been acquired by the taxpayer in payment for services rendered, is the fair market value of the property at the date of receipt. This basis is then adjusted for capital items, such as depreciation and betterments in the case of real estate.

In the case of property acquired by gift, a distinction is made between property so acquired before Jan. 1, 1921, and after Dec. 31, 1920. For property acquired by gift or transfer in trust (except by devise or bequest) before Jan. 1, 1921, the basis for determining either gain or loss is the fair market value at the time of the gift, or transfer in trust.

For property acquired by gift after Dec. 31, 1920, the basis to be used depends upon whether a probable gain or a loss is involved. In determining a gain the basis is the same as it would be in the hands of the donor or the last preceding owner by whom it was not acquired by gift. Thus, if a taxpayer received a gift of property from his father in 1940, the basis would be the cost (or other basis) of the property to his father (assuming his father had bought it and had not himself received it as a gift), adjusted by capital items, suc as depreciation and betterments applicable. If, however, his father had received it also as a gift, then the basis would be the cost (or other basis) to the last person by whom it was not acquired by gift, adjusted as described. (The "or other basis" mentioned in parentheses would apply to property acquired by the father by purchase prior to March 1, 1913, or by devise or bequest, or other means).

In determining a loss on property acquired by gift after Dec. 31, 1920, the basis is either the same as it would be in the hands of the donor or the last preceding owner by whom it was not acquired by gift, or the fair market value of the property at the time of the gift, whichever is lower.

In the case of property acquired by bequest, devise, or inheritance, the basis is the fair market value of the property at the time of such acquisition. The time of acquisition is the date of death of the decedent, even though legal title may not pass to the legatee until a later date. No distinction applies between property so acquired before Jan. 1, 1921, and after Dec. 31, 1920.

For property acquired after December 31, 1920, by any transfer in trust, except as a gift or by bequest or devise, the rule is that the basis for determining gain or loss is the same as it would be in the hands of the grantor, increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss recognized to the grantor upon such transfer under the law applicable to the year in which the transfer was made. The expression "increased," etc., applies to a transfer of property in trust for a valuable consideration.

In determining the basis in the case of securities of a corporation which have been acquired at various times and in various amounts, and which have been sold in various amounts and at various times, the general rule is that the securities sold (in the absence of identification of the particular securities sold) shall be charged against the earliest purchases of such securities.

To determine the basis of common stock received as a bonus with a purchase of preferred stock or bonds, the total purchase price shall be fairly apportioned between the common stock and the securities purchased.

SUITS BRIGHTER

LONDON—(UP)—British men soon will be wearing lighter and brighter suits. The 1943 color range issued to tailors by the British color council contains less of the popular dark blues, browns and grays, also instead there are spicy yellow browns, like clove and cinnamon.

Some business suits have a purply hue, and even tweed will be woven with the purply yellow tinge. The new colors are necessary because of wartime dyeing restrictions.

TOO MUCH JAZZ IN WAR SONGS

LOS ANGELES — (UP) — The failure of the present war to inspire any "good" war songs is attributed by Dr. Walter H. Rubsamen, professor of music at the University of California, to the fact that the American musical ear has become so educated to jazz and syncopated rhythms that straight martial songs no longer appeal to it.

"Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition" and "The Fuehrer's Face" mark the high-water mark of war song production to date, he said, "and a very sorry one at that."

BANK'S BOARDS HEAR REPORTS

Farmers Shows $3,083,436 Gain in Resources; Expansion of Consumer Loans Cited.

The Farmers Savings and Trust company increased its resources $3,083,436 in the nine-year period closing Dec 31, 1942, the bank's newly-created advisory committee was informed last night at its first meeting with the board of directors

This figure was included in a report submitted by H S. Black, president which showed assets totaled $1,338,405 on Dec 31, 1933 and that these had increased to $4,421,841 on Dec 31, 1942 Not included in its financial summary is approximately $100,000 in real estate which the bank holds.

Discussions of post-war banking developed from Paul M. Eliot, secretary-treasurer and trust officer, the prediction that consumer loan service will be carried out on an unprecedented scale.

The bank already has entered consumer service in its automobile loan department, Eliot said. He pointed out that the bank has carried on a sizeable business in this department and said not one repossession was necessary.

Banks will be called upon to expand this form of service when the post-war consumer buying starts, he said.

Eliot's report showed also that the bank's safety deposit box department had grown considerably during the past year It was attributed to sales of war bonds

Brief talks were given by four advisory board members John L Catlett, R M Calene, C. V. McConnell and C L Van Dereau

In addition to these, the advisory group is made up of Dr. L. Adams, C S Fernyak, J. H. Gongwer, J C Gorman, Elmer N. Hedeen, J. M Hill, N. Litson, W. C Mead, Louis J. Ott, W. W. Purdy, Robert C. Remy, A. C. Rhoads Carl Russell, T. R. Sammons, Charles Siegenthaler, George H. Smith, and H. B Soulen. Some of the members were unable to be present.

The bank's directors are H S. Black, Roger A. Black J M. Dickson, G. L. Draftan, Eliot John H. Finefrock, C. F Harding, R D. Isaly, C H Keating, C E Nail, P. H. Ober W. A Springer, and W M. Weldon.

The meeting opened with a dinner at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

*IT'S THREE WAYS BETTER

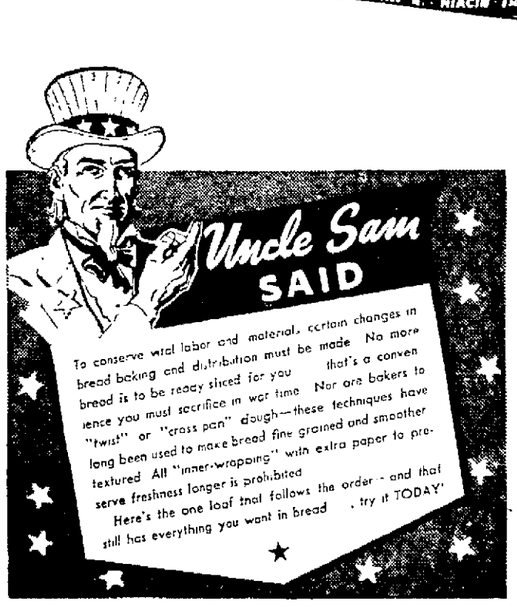
Your Favorite Bread in a Delicious New Improved Loaf



Uncle Sam SAID
To conserve vital labor and material, certain changes in bread baking and distribution must be made No more bread is to be ready sliced for you that's a convenience you must sacrifice in war time Nor are bakers to "twist" or "cross pan" dough—these techniques have long been used to make bread fine grained and smoother textured All "inner-wrapping" with extra paper to preserve freshness longer is prohibited
Here's the one loaf that follows the order - and that still has everything you want in bread . try it TODAY"

Easy to Slice:*

Baked from a special, scientifically developed recipe that produces a tender, easily-cut crust . . . and an even, fine-grained inside that slices smoothly.

Easy to Spread:*

Just try it in a comparative test. You'll be delighted to see how butter and other spreads smooth evenly . . . no crumb "balling up" beneath the knife blade.

Nourishing to Serve:*

Fully enriched—according to U.S. National Nutrition Program recommendations—with Vitamin B1, Niacin (another B Vitamin) — and Iron. These extra nutrients help keep your strength and stamina at par to aid your home-front war effort.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

My No. 1 Operative Paul Whizzer White is a big man in the circulation department of the News-Journal. Now Paul the Whizzer would be a big man in any department as one and all who know him will testify, but he works in the circulation department so that makes him a big man in the circulation department. It's really not so complicated as it may sound.

And as a circulator, the Whizzer really gets around to Mansfield street corners, and all the small towns and cross roads in Richland county and vicinity, and he can give you the life history of just about every kid who has carried the News-Journal in the last so many years.

Now whenever, in Whizzer's presence, someone mentions a Mansfield grade school, Junior high or high school, or independent athletic team, or a Richland county team, in any sport, the Whizzer is apt to remark:

"So and so on that team carries the News-Journal, or used to carry the News-Journal," as the case may be. And then Whizzer will proceed to tell you all about so and so.

My No. 1 operative believes in mixing business with pleasure. That is why he often finds it necessary to make a business trip to a section of the county where an interesting basketball game just happens to be on the docket.

So it is not surprising that the Whizzer now picks his All Richland County High School team of News-Journal carrier boys: Elden Burkett, Jake Berberick and Rabbit Ream of Plymouth, Joe McQuate of Shiloh, John Bowers of Bellville, and Bill (Red) Hammett and Jimmy Metcalf of Lucas, and Bob Ross of Plymouth.

My No. 1 operative now memorandizes me in this fashion:

"Remember Bob Hahn of last year's Union high county tournament championship team? He's the guy that drove in like a truck and shot one-handed.

"He is leaving for the navy today. When he was drafted he selected the navy under the new draft plan.

"He lives in Shenandoah, and graduated from Union last June. "Played bucketball all through high school, and was very active n all school and community activities.

"Incidentally he carried the N-J until he graduated."

"Incidentally," he says. You know darn well that was the point of Whizzer's story all along.

Dale Haverstock, the Canon McKinley Bulldog who didn't play in the Akron independent basketball tournament that was never held, is heading toward a new all-time scoring record for McKinley hoopsters this winter.

He must score 41 points in the four remaining games on the Bulldog schedule, an average of 10.25 per game, to top the mark of 212 set in 1933-34 by John Lutsch.

Haverstock may set a new record when the Bulldogs meet Mansfield Tygers here a week from tomorrow night. But it won't make Mansfield fans happy.

Big Ten Moves to Use Frosh

Vote Scheduled on Rule Change Sunday.

CHICAGO — (INS) — Western conference universities will throw out the freshman rule in athletics at a special meeting of the Athletic Directors and Faculty Representatives in Chicago Sunday, it was predicted today by Big Ten officials.

No public announcement of the emergency session had been made, but Maj. John L. Griffith, conference commissioner, confirmed that it would be held.

The severe drain upon the athletic personnel by the fact that enlisted reserve units of the army, navy and marines are calling out athletes in steadily increasing numbers caused the calling of the meeting to consider the problem.

Under the terms of the proposed abrogation of the freshman rule, first year men would become eligible to compete in the various spring sports this year as well as in the 1943 football campaign.

While there has been some dissent, most of the Big Ten faculty representatives, who will make the decision, were represented as believing the conference would have to remove the freshman ban if athletics were to be continued on a scale at all comparable with former years.

Added to the fact that the schools are losing many of their ace athletes to the armed forces in the recent army announcement that student-soldiers returning to school under the new specialized training program will not have time to participate in intercollegiate athletics.

Dean Aaron J. Brumbaugh of the University of Chicago, a member of the faculty committee, remained among the apparent minority opposing a change in the rules. He said:

"I think this rule has the same value now as in peace time. I think the freshmen need a full year to find themselves in their academic work. There's more pressure now than ever before. A good one-year program of physical toughening—not in competitive sports—is necessary to prepare them for the 'varsity."

The other members of the committee are: Prof. Thomas E. French, chairman, Ohio State; Prof. Frank E. Richart, secretary, Illinois; Prof. Lee Norvelle, Indiana; Dr. Karl E. Leib, Iowa; Prof. Ralph W. Aigler, Michigan; Prof. Henry Rottschaefer, Minnesota; Prof. Walter K. Smart, Northwestern; Prof. J. A. Estey, Purdue and Dr. W. F. Lorenz, Wisconsin.

Sport Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—This is the day the Phils are supposed to be sold but nobody is taking much stock in that report except the National league—it's taking 4,685 shares. . . . Add horrors of war: Marchy Schwartz, the old Notre Dame footballer, is teaching tennis and rugby at Stanford.

SAY IT AIN'T TRUE, JOE

Without their jolting Joe Di Mag,
The Yanks can hardly cop that rag.
The Dodgers, minus Lippy Leo,
Will likely get a verbal kayo.
That leaves the Jints to go to bat on Bringing a pennant to Manhattan.

Every time a guy like Joe Di Maggio, Ted Williams or Peewee Reese goes into service, fans start wondering if he'll be able to come back after the war. . . . Our guess is that most of them will make the grade, if the duration isn't too long, because even if they can't play real Major league ball for a while, the guys they'll be competing against won't be playing that kind either.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Members of several Toledo golf clubs have volunteered to give one day a week to helping with the greenskeeping . . . and they'll probably get more exercise that way than they would lifting divots. . . . Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of the U. of Kentucky, promises that after the war the Wildcats will have a football team that can hold its own with the best in the southeastern conference.

SERVICE DEPT.

When Cadet Samuel P. Sturges did 1,000 sit-ups to break Douglas Gordon's Iowa Pre-Flight school record of 800, it looked as if competition between them was at an end because gym classes weren't long enough for them to do more. But to settle the rivalry, both obtained permission to miss their next classes and have it out.

Notre Dame Coach Dies

Heart Ailment Takes Life Of Cage Mentor.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — (AP) — Death has ended the brilliant 20-year basketball coaching career of George E. (Doc) Keogan at Notre Dame.

The 52-year-old Irish mentor, who was discovered in an obscure coaching job by the late Knute Rockne, died in his home last night of a heart ailment.

Keogan had just returned to South Bend with his squad from an eastern tour and although he had been forced to curtail his activities since a severe heart attack two years ago, he had not been ailing recently and his death came as a shock. He was at home reading a newspaper when he slumped over and was dead when a physician arrived.

His death came as the Notre Dame quintet, beaten only once in 13 games this season, prepared for its clash with the strong Great Lakes team Saturday night in Chicago. Coaching duties were expected to be taken over by Keogan's assistant and former star player, Ed (Moose) Krause.

During the 20 years Keogan has coached at Notre Dame, the Irish cage teams maintained a .771 average, winning 327 games, losing 96 and tying one. This year's only defeat was by the University of Kentucky.

RULED TOO TALL

DETROIT—(AP)—Lee Knoreck of Rossford, O., high scoring center for the University of Detroit basketball team, is too tall for the army. He returned to school with the report that his draft board rejected him for military service because he was an inch taller than the army maximum of six feet six inches.

Rockets Swamp Penguins

Toledo Boosts Lead In State Bucketball Race.

(By Associated Press)

TOLEDO University's all-freshman basketball quintet stepped farther out front in the statewide cage championship pace last night, defeating Youngstown's Penguins 62 to 39.

The victory left Toledo's Rockets, who also top the Ohio Conference standings, with a season record against all competition of 15 wins and two losses, a comfortable margin over second-place Capital which has won 11 and dropped two. Bowling Green is in third place with an 18-4 rating.

The game, played at Youngstown, was the season's finale for the Penguins who wound up with 11 triumphs and five defeats. Youngstown played without the services of their ace point-maker, Leo Mogus, ill with the grippe.

In other games visiting Findlay handed Bluffton its 11th straight defeat, a 71-49 lacing; Muskingum thumped Denisoin 65 to 50 at Granville as Muskies center Dave McDowell tossed in 29 points for the best individual performance of the night; Mount Union's Rudy Schlott pitched in 24 as the Mounts routed Bethany, W. Va., 68 to 30 at Alliance; and John Carroll gained revenge for an earlier defeat by drubbing Case 48 to 32.

Barons Edged Out By Pittsburgh

(By United Press)

The Hershey Bears continued to maul all opposition in the American hockey league when they walloped the Washington Lions, 10 to 2, Wednesday night to increase their hold on first place.

The third place Pittsburgh Hornets rallied to nose out the Cleveland Barons, 4 to 3.

Cook and Trudel scored to give Cleveland an early lead but Palangio's goal cut the margin in the first period and Hemmerling and Mann sent Pittsburgh out in front in the second. Horeck scored for Cleveland and Currie for Pittsburgh in the third.

Big Three Calls Halt to Athletics

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — (INS) — War conditions today added another casualty in the sports world with the announcement that "athletics as usual" are out for the duration for the Big Three—Harvard, Yale and Princeton.

In a joint statement issued by the presidents of the three universities, it was revealed that a number of factors made the continued maintenance of intercollegiate sports activity "no longer feasible" and recognized the necessity for "drastic modifications in our schedules."

Tygers Seeded In Joust

Hoffman Hoopsters Go To Massillon Friday.

MANSFIELD high's currenly fast-stepping Tygers tomorrow night attempt the well-nigh impossible—beating Massillon's Tigers on the Massillon floor.

At the same time the Mansfield brand of Tygers are turning their ear toward Bellevue where plans have been completed for the district tournament drawing next Wednesday night.

Coach Vern Hoffman has a letter from Edward Masonbrink, tournament manager, saying that an effort will be made to seed the best teams in the tourney, and that Mansfield and Ashland will be among the seeded teams.

Two best teams in the Buckeye league and in the Little Big Four league also will be seeded to make sure that they do not meet in the first round of play.

After the preliminary seeding, the luck of the draw will rule for the rest of the tournament pairing, which means the seeded teams will merely be separated into upper and lower brackets of the joust.

Seeding of Mansfield should occasion no great surprise, in spite of the not too impressive record of 11 victories and six defeats owned by the Tygers. The Hoffman hoopsters have defeated every tournament team they have played this season, losing only to Ashland in a return engagement.

But back to the Massillon game tomorrow night.

Massillon this season again is holding up its reputation of being tough to beat on its home court. The Tigers defeated a good Canton McKinley team at Massillon, and then lost at Canton. They also defeated Canton Lehman, which upset McKinley.

Mansfield cagers should be getting used to tough assignments. Last week they won at Zanesville where the Blue Devils had lost only two previous home tilts.

Frick Optimistic Over Phils Sale

PHILADELPHIA —(INS)— National league President Ford Frick today was expected to name a board of directors to give the Phils a corporate representation pending completion of details of the club's sale to one of two syndicates.

Although he refused to comment on any details of the deal, Frick did say:

"I am more optimistic over the sale of the Philadelphia club to parties who can do the kind of a job the National league wants than I ever was before. Beyond that I cannot comment."

Principal bidders for the club were said to be syndicates headed by William D. Cox, New York lumber broker, and Jack Kelly, former Democratic city chairman and head of the national physical fitness program.

STOCK MARKET SLIDES DOWN FRACTIONALLY

Bank Clearings Take Slight Dip But Still Exceed Marks a Year Ago.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — The direction was irregularly lower in today's early stock market proceedings.

Off fractions to a point or so at an active opening were Crucible Steel, Anaconda, General Electric, General Motors, N. Y. Central, Radio Corp., and Southern Railway. Gainers included Western Union, U. S. Steel, Boeing and American Smelting.

Trend analysts studied the Dun & Bradstreet summary disclosing bank clearings in 23 cities for the week ended Wednesday were 2 per cent under the preceding week but 14.7 per cent above the comparable 1942 period.

Notice was taken of the National Industrial Conference board estimate that the number of hired workers on farms at 1,566,000 was the lowest on record.

SAYS IT'S EASY TO DRY FRUITS

PULLMAN, Wash. — (UP) — Home drying of fruits and vegetables is not difficult, according to Dr. C. L. Bedford, specialist in fruit and vegetables at the agricultural experimental station at the State college here.

According to Bedford, drying is economical and satisfactory for some varieties of fruits and vegetables. It supplements canning and other forms of storage and is an inexpensive way to get a larger variety of foods for winter use.

Sun and oven-drying with special apparatus or with fan-driven air are some of the methods described for a lengthy list of fruits and vegetables.

LET'S MAKE MANSFIELD THE FIRST 10% CITY IN OUR STATE

READ THIS APPEAL . . THEN ACT!

Ed Murrow talks to us from London

Excerpt from broadcast from London by Edward Murrow, commentator for the Columbia Broadcasting System in London

DID YOU ever see an army—a battered, broken, beaten, bitter army—come home?

Did you ever hear strong men with the mud and blood still on them asking, "Where were our tanks? Why did we have no planes? Why no armor-piercing ammunition?"

Well, I have—twice. When friends of mine came home from Norway and Dunkerque.

It's not a pretty sight. But I can't help thinking about it today, when it's my turn to talk about War Bonds.

You have been told to buy War Bonds—to join a 10% club—to help yourself as well as your country, and get $4 for every $3 you put in. Those may all be good arguments. But from over here, things look a little different.

There are a lot of American boys over here now—hundreds of thousands more are coming. Together with their Allies, they are preparing to undertake the most difficult of all military operations—a sea-borne landing on the most heavily-defended coast in the world.

You want those boys to win. You want them to have the necessary gear—and better gear than their enemies have. You want bridgeheads bombed out for them. You want a fighter-plane umbrella over them while they land.

And if you want it hard enough to help pay for all the stuff those boys are going to need, do this: Even though you're doing about all you can, take another look and see if there isn't a little more that you can spare for War Bonds—now!

WHY U. S. WAR BONDS ARE THE SAFEST PLACE YOU CAN PUT YOUR MONEY!

1. They are obligations of the United States. If this isn't safe, nothing is!
2. For every $3 you invest in War Bonds you get back $4 at the end of 10 years.
3. They do not fluctuate in dollar value—are never worth less than you pay for them.
4. You can name one individual either as co-owner or as beneficiary right on the face of the bond.
5. Your savings in War Bonds cannot be lost or stolen. Each bond is registered at the Treasury Department.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1943.

About every so often someone remarks: "Most speeches would be twice as good if they were half as long."

One of the country's leading geologists was quoted the other day as saying that this year Japan was due for a serious earthquake. She had one in 1923, and again in 1933. In absence of the real thing, Jimmy Doolittle may be able to provide a passable substitute.

Time Question Up To Council

AS CITY COUNCIL meets tonight to consider the time question, and probably decide what Mansfield's attitude will be in the matter of setting clocks back an hour, or continuing on federal War time at least until next fall, two elements seem uppermost in importance.

First is a sincere desire to co-operate to the greatest possible extent with the national war program and second is public convenience.

It is the expressed belief of federal authorities that War time serves to save electric current and increase production of war materials. This has been questioned but not disproved.

Ohio belongs as legitimately in the Central as in the Eastern time zone and War time throws Mansfield approximately an hour and a half ahead of sun time, which causes annoying inconveniences during the winter months but results in some advantages in the summer.

Following action by the state legislature making Central time the standard for Ohio, a large number of cities have already decided to remain on War time, in order to avoid the confusion of having two times—federal and local. It is decision along this line that is to be made by Mansfield city council tonight.

In some instances cities have decided to retain the present time until October 1, thus giving further time for the Interstate Commerce Commission to consider placing Ohio and similarly situated states in the Central zone.

Public expression of views on the subject indicate majority approval of continuing on the present time through the summer, with final decision left until later.

Make Income Tax Report Now!

LESS than a month remains before the final date for filing income tax returns, accompanied by payment of at least one-fourth of the year's assessment.

Thus far the filing has been unusually slow, although the total number of taxpayers will be exceptionally high, due to reduction of exemptions and increased earnings by many who have not heretofore been required to pay an income tax.

Slowness in filing returns on 1942 income is attributed to belief of many people that congress may make some change in the tax plan which will eliminate the March 15 payment.

It has been made quite clear, however, that no impending tax plan will remove the necessity of making a return by March 15 and paying a quarterly installment by that date.

In order to avoid long waits during the rush of the final days it is advised that as many as possible file their income tax returns this week and next—as much better service will be available before the rush starts. Office, second floor postoffice building, corner West Fourth and Mulberry streets.

Less Driving, Fewer Accidents

ONE of the compensations for various inconveniences of war-time is improvement of traffic conditions for motorists who still drive. Except for the fuel stringency, driving is pleasanter than it has been for many years and there are fewer accidents. There are so few cars on main streets and highways that a driver almost feels as if he had the road to himself. Sometimes the speed limit is felt as a handicap, but 35 miles an hour isn't bad when one gets accustomed to it. There is compensation, too, in the knowledge that fuel is being saved and life of tires prolonged.

Not the least blessing of this forced economy is the recent order issued by Joseph B. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation. He wants the traffic stop signs, lights and cycles readjusted so as to interfere less with motor traffic. This is not intended as a favor to the driver in a hurry, but to avoid the waste of rubber and gas in needless stopping and starting.

Wives at Baseball Training Camps

BRANCH RICKEY, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and an old hand for new ideas, now announces that it will be all right for ballplayers' wives to accompany their husbands to spring training camps.

In the eyes of old baseball men this is simply opening the doors wide for trouble. The wives sit together in the stands and knit and chat, compare notes as to salaries, and criticize the playing of the men on the field. When the player being criticized has a wife in the grandstand group, she is not apt to take it meekly. She replies with a counter-criticism, and then the fur flies. More than one club has had to get rid of a valuable player because of a feud started by idle gossip among the wives.

Rickey appreciates all this, but has two answers. One is that the wives help keep their husbands "straight" and prevent them from keeping late hours and doing too much drinking. The other is, "If the wives want to come, who is to stop them?"

More Alarm Clocks Promised

SUDDEN LIGHT is shed on the question of what has been the matter with this nation lately. The manufacture of alarm clocks was discontinued many months ago. Hardly anybody noticed it at the time, but from that moment, apparently, things began to run down. People didn't seem able to get up and get to work as usual without help. Finally, believe it or not, the war workers themselves began complaining so vigorously that, if materials can be obtained again, the War Production Board will O. K. production of 1,500,000 or more alarm clocks this year, and from then on regularly.

This should be a lesson to a nation that grew up on alarm clocks and has not developed the knack of waking up voluntarily at a given time. Maybe a little psychic help could be provided now for workers lacking priorities. Some people say they can set their minds, like alarm clocks, to wake them up at any given time.

"Man never is, but always to be, blest," said Alexander Pope, and it's much the same way with security.

Hitler 'Strategy' Fails In Russia

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

THE PACE of the German withdrawal in southern Russia lends weight to belief that the high command has taken over the direction of affairs and has abandoned Hitler's Russian venture.

Despite the advice of his generals, Hitler shoved his armies into this bear trap and it is their job now to extricate the remainder and regroup them for a defensive stand, probably along the Dneiper.

Although this retreat was forced by military necessity, due to Russian pressure, there can be little doubt that it was ordered. That suggests the direction of the generals, who were against the drive to the Volga in the first place.

If they had had their say, it is probable that they would have withdrawn from Stalingrad in time to avert the great disaster there. Hitler insisted on a suicidal stand and it was the last blow to his spurious military prestige, built on temporary successes gained by bold but unsound military tactics.

If the Germans had decided to make any further stand in the Eastern Ukraine, they unquestionably would have put up a stiffer fight to hold their naturally strong line in the hills from Orel to below Kursk, a stretch of more than 200 miles. Now they have abandoned Kursk, Belgorod and Kharkov and hold only Orel, which they are expected to give up momentarily.

That means they are on the unbroken plains stretching from 150 to 250 miles west of the Dneiper. The Terrain offers no natural defenses and it seems unlikely that a halt can be made short of the river.

BEYOND that it is improbable that the Germans would retreat unless crushingly defeated, because they would be getting too close to the "eastern wall" of their own country.

Farther to the south, the Germans are in retreat from Rostov along the shore of the Sea of Azov, and the Russians already are pressing close to Taganrog, where the Germans halted last year's Russian push.

The extent of this retreat will be interesting to watch. It has been suggested that the Germans will fall back to the region of Odessa, near the mouth of the Dneiper.

It seems unlikely they would do so except from sheer necessity, since it would mean complete evacuation of the Crimea. If the Russians drive past Taganrog and reach the narrow Perekop isthmus connecting the peninsula with the mainland, the German forces in the Crimea would otherwise be cut off and doomed.

Also, a German retreat to Odessa would bring the Russians perilously close to the Dniester and Bessarabia, which means in turn a threat to the Rumanian oil fields.

Hitler cannot possibly afford to lose the Rumanian fields, for they are almost his sole remaining source of natural oil supply. It is doubtful if he could remain in the war for long solely on his synthetic production.

Health and Diet

Some Strange Facts

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I HAVE just run across some pronouncements by a medical man, made several years ago, about high blood pressure which I believe still obtain and furnish some pointers which may be useful:

1. Doctors who have studied the condition most carefully do not know whether high blood pressure is a symptom or a disease.

2. One leading authority has put down 14 basic causes for high blood pressure. This should be noted by those who write in and ask me what is "the" cause of high blood pressure.

3. Business worries, domestic troubles, personal anxiety and frustration can be contributing causes or at least causes which make the condition worse.

4. One can inherit a tendency toward the condition.

5. High blood pressure may exist for years without causing any symptoms.

6. Since it is a disturbance of the arteries and since the arteries go everywhere in the body, it is natural that a great many conditions are associated with it. For instance, angina pectoris, or heart pain, goes with high blood pressure. Also kidney changes which may be reflected in the urine accompany it. An oculist may often detect high blood pressure by examining the eyes. When long continued, it may cause apoplexy and some mental deterioration.

7. About half the patients with high blood pressure live out their life expectancy.

8. Women bear high blood pressure better than men.

9. All plans for treatment should include psychological methods of treatment and some of the best results are accomplished by psychological means.

10. The basic rules for improvement are to eat less, smoke less, work less and sleep more.

11. Tobacco is far more harmful than a moderate use of alcohol.

12. There is no special treatment nor are there any drugs which will cure high blood pressure permanently.

A Chinese doctor once told some of my American friends that our trouble was efficiency, punctuality and discipline. He said, "A Chinese abhors efficiency because it leaves him no peace of mind; punctuality because he wants plenty of leisure; too much discipline interferes with personal liberty. You Americans pay for your efficiency with high blood pressure."

Good advice for those who have high blood pressure is as follows:

1. Keep calm. Avoid war news and discussions.

2. Avoid stimulating food and drink.

3. Avoid constipation. Keep in good general health.

4. Avoid tight-fitting collars or any constriction around the neck.

Dave Boone Says:

THE house military affairs committee is speeding legislation to defer family men from the draft as long as possible. If they can be spared they should be. With the wives, daughters and sons rushing into service somebody ought to be left behind to take care of the house.

Mother's in the WAACS, the wife in the WAVES, Jennie's bound for the marines or SPARS, the boys are in uniform and there won't be anybody to keep the home fires burning if Pop is rushed off, too.

I think most married men will go anyhow, just to escape being lonely.

The way the women folks are leaping into assorted uniforms is a caution. It's the girls who are singing "Good-bye Darling, I Must Leave You" this time.

They've organized a female marine corps now. Lady Devil-Dogs sure will seem a novelty. And I hope their motto won't be "Treat 'em rough."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Significant Test Vote Indicates Republicans In Control of House

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The house of representatives' ban on free mailing privileges of government departments without congressional okay is much more significant than administration leaders admit.

It shows that the Republicans today really rule one house of congress. They won by the narrow margin of 204 to 201. It was a test case. Administration leaders vigorously opposed the mail ban on the ground it would interfere with vital army and navy mail.

For some time Democratic leaders have expected growing defections in Democratic ranks, chiefly among southern and farm congressmen. However, the leaders were not prepared for the technique the coalitionists used in this case. Actually, only six anti-New Deal Democrats voted for the Feefe amendment banning free mail for government bureaus without congressional okay. What spelled defeat for the administration was the fact that 19 other Democrats, including 11 from the south, led by Representative Hatton Sumners of Texas, did not vote, thus assuring a Republican victory.

PEARSON

A few were legitimate absentees, including Representative Jack Cochran of Missouri, who has been ill. But the majority absented themselves deliberately, according to house leaders. Representative Sumners and others were reported seen on the floor just before the vote, but disappeared when the clerk began to call the roll.

Besides Sumners and Cochran, other absentees were Representatives Abernethy of Mississippi, Bland of Virginia, Boykin of Alabama, Bryson of South Carolina, Clark of North Carolina, Cullen of New York, Domengeaux of Louisiana, Heffernan of New York, Kennedy of New York, Lewis of Colorado, McGranery of Pennsylvania, Maloney of Louisiana, Manstield of Texas, Morrison of Louisiana, Norton of New Jersey, Sheridan of Pennsylvania and Steagall of Alabama.

Note: Democratic coalitionists have decided to use the "stay-away" technique rather than outright voting against the administration. On close votes, it is just as effective.

Investigating Dies.

TWO decisions were made at the first closed-door meeting of the house appropriations subcommittee named to review Dies committee charges of un-Americanism against certain government employes.

The sub-committee, headed by fair-minded Representative John H. Kerr of North Carolina, decided first to hear only the individuals against whom the charges have been made. No character witnesses will be permitted to testify, except in unusual cases.

Second, the committee decided to throw out any cases in which there is the slightest doubt about accused employes' loyalty to the United States. The fact that an employe has been a member or has attended meetings of a so-called Communist "front" group won't be considered sufficient evidence to oust him from his job, in the eyes of the reviewing subcommittee.

This is significant, because virtually all the evidence the Dies committee has on federal workers is based on connections with "front" organizations, like the League for Peace and Democracy, now disbanded.

Chairman Kerr insisted that there must be conclusive proof of un-Americanism before any employe is discharged, since "what we do may ruin a man and his family for life." Kerr urged super-caution in dealing with all cases, and he was vigorously supported by the other members of the subcommittee. Lane Powers of New Jersey, Frank Keefe of Wisconsin, Albert Gore of Tennessee and Clinton Anderson of New Mexico.

Representative Powers said the slogan of the committee should be a saying which had been drilled into him at his alma mater, Pennsylvania Military college: "When wealth is lost, nothing is lost; when health is lost, something is lost; when character is lost, all is lost."

Rest Horse's Shoes.

MANY a farmer got a horse laugh out of that WPB suggestion that horse shoes should be removed when not in use. And WPB has been dluged with mail (not exactly fan mail) calling the officials all sorts of names.

One farmer wrote, "The Gov. should send you out on a southern farm with the other mules."

All letters were addressed to that unhappy Harvard graduate Edward R. Gay, son of the former dean of the Harvard School of Business and one-time editor of the New York Evening Post. It was over Gay's signature that the letter went out suggesting that a lot of things could be done to save horse shoes. One was to eliminate some of the 100 different styles or patterns of horse-shoes.

Another was that "horse owners can, in many cases, save shoes by removing the shoes immediately after a period of necessary road work.

From behind his red face, the WPB hastens to explain that (1) It was not Harvardman Gay who composed the letter, but farm-born Verne Gregg of the department of agriculture; and (2) WPB really means what it says about taking off the horse's shoes.

It's a simple matter, says Gregg, to pull the nails out of a shoe at the end of a season of road work, when the horse is going to be in pasture. Otherwise the shoes will probably be lost in pasture, and in the spring dobbin will have to come back to town for new iron that can be used for better purpose in the war.

ERNIE PYLE

The Roving Reporter

AT THE FRONT IN TUNISIA—(By Wireless)—This is the last of a series about an armored convoy trip in which a whole great section of an army moved by night across half of Tunisia, from one fighting front to another.

I have written so much about it because soldiers at the front are moving constantly and the battle areas of the world writhe with these vast convoys stealing dangerously across country, hidden in the darkness. You hear little about them, but this one I've just ridden with is typical of hundreds that are moving somewhere this very night. The head of our convoy started just at dusk and reached its destination at 4 in the morning. The tail end didn't start till 1 a. m., and it was nearly noon before it reached journey's end and safety. We were near that tail end.

ERNIE PYLE

Just after daylight the members of our little party changed places again. Capt. Pat Riddleberger got behind the wheel of the truck on which we had snatched a couple of hours' sleep. I went back to relieve one of the half-frozen soldiers in our jeep.

WHEN we started again we were all wide awake and vividly alert, for the hour of danger was upon us. We still had hours to go in daylight, and it was a magnificent chance for the Germans to destroy us by the hundreds with strafing planes.

The sun came up slowly over the bare mountain ridges. The country was flat and desertlike. There was not a tree as far as we could see. It looked like west Texas.

We passed Arabs blue with cold shepherding their flocks or walking the roads. There was hoar-frost on the ground, and sometimes we could see thin ice in the ditches.

At daylight our vehicles, acting on orders and through long experiences, began to spread out. Now we were running about 200 yards apart. As far as we could see across the desert, ahead and behind, the road was filled with drab brown vehicles.

Sergt. James Bernett, Tulsa, Okla., was driving our jeep. I rode up front with him. Pvt. John Coughlin sat in back. He unseathed a machine gun and mounted it on a stanchion between us. We kept a careful lookout for planes.

AFTER a while we saw trucks ahead stopping and soldiers piling out like ants, and I was in such a daze from cold and fatigue that I didn't sense at first what that meant. Neither did the others.

Then all of a sudden Coughlin yelled:

"Watch it! Watch it!"

And we both knew what he meant. By now all the men ahead were running out across the desert as fast as they could go. Bernett slamed on the brakes—and you can stop a jeep almost instantly. I was so entangled in blankets that it took a few seconds to get loose. Coughlin couldn't wait. He went out right over my head before the jeep had stopped.

He caught a foot as he went, and it threw him headlong. He hit the road flat, and skidded on his stomach in the gravel. He hurt one knee, but he limped the fastest limp I've ever seen.

We beat it out across the desert until we found a little gully a hundred feet from the road. We didn't get in the gully, but stopped and took our bearings. None of us could see or hear anything.

We waited about five minutes. Soldiers were strung out over the desert on both sides of the road as far as you could see. Everybody gradually decided it was a false alarm. And so, cussing but immensely relieved, we straggled back to the road.

We were all so cold we were brittle. One tall soldier came limping back saying, "My feet are so damn cold that when I hit the ground my toes broke right off."

That crack seemed to set us off, and suddenly the whole thing got funny.

I can still see us out there on the African desert at dawn, giggling, with death in the sky. It wasn't till later that we learned the alarm was real and that far ahead of us, out of sight and sound, the convoy had been strafed and men wounded.

THE rest of the trip was like any trip. The road grew dusty, and the wind even colder, it seemed, than ever. But the danger of attack was always with us, and we stopped and hit the ditch a couple of times before realizing that the planes we saw were our own.

We pulled into our new station a little before 11, camouflaged the tanks and trucks, and then broke out some canned rations. We cooked sausages on a gasoline stove on the hood of the jeep. And a half hour later we went to a kitchen truck and ate a big lunch.

A Farmer's Diary — By CALVIN A. BYERS

Her Knitting

WE SAT in the farmer's living room, on a dark and stormy night. "It can't do this very long no more," ejaculated the middle-aged farmer, peering out at the blizzard. A horde of whirling flakes beat against the lighted panes. "Tomorrow we'll be shovelin' snow."

Seated thoughtfully was his wife, a frail thin wiry woman whose appearance never seems to vary much. She was knitting a sweater on two long smooth home-made wooden needles. The soft drab brown ball of yarn rolled nearly to the center of the floor as she pulled lightly on the cord. Her actions brought to mind my own mother's hands, knitting our socks and mittens with woolen string as brown as this — but mother had carded and spun the raw wool and often her large gnarled hands glistened with the grease not washed thoroughly out.

On the small stand beside her stood the radio. Not a bit of news escaped her. North Africa—here our soldiers won a new position. I saw her fingers stiffen. Australia mentioned—the taut fingers relaxed. The Russian victors — her movements became more hasty; Iceland reports — at once her knitting stopped and the whole unfinished work dropped, forgotten into her lap. A tense far-distant look—her firm thin lips ajar, her frail body bent toward the source of sound.

Commandos raid across the North sea the heroes met the enemy, accomplished their assignment, then returned. Yes, there were casualties . . .

Her face lit up, her eyes beamed from the depths of some great unspoken knowledge. Gently she resumed her knitting—not steeped in hate, as was Madame Le Farge, but sweet and thoughtful as though she committed her only son into the keeping of One who is greater than we.

Some rows of stitches in that sweater were tight and heavily bound, some rings were loose like chains, while others held the calm and the grace of an artist.

Washington prayed for guidance and victory in the deep snows of Valley Forge. Lincoln, weary and worn, sought hope and deliverance in the White House. American mothers of today have similar praying strength, similar faith and assurance of victory.

YANKS GIVE UP 3 KEY POINTS IN TUNISIA

Nazis Climax 66-Mile Drive as British Reach Mareth Line.

U. S. troops were forced to withdraw earlier this week.

The British war bulletin made no mention of fighting as Eighth army advance forces swept up to the Mareth defense works, leading to speculation that Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel may have withdrawn his main army northward.

Military analysts interpreted the absence of any major Axis defense against the Eighth army's approach as indicating that Rommel might have decided to make his stand on a shorter, wider front in northern Tunisia.

This strategy was suggested in dispatches from Allied headquarters yesterday declaring Rommel was seeking "elbow room" when he sent his heavy new Mark VI tanks punching out against the Americans in the Sidi Bouzid-Sbeitla sector in central Tunisia Equipped only with light tanks, U. S. soldiers have fallen back 35 miles in three days.

Prime Minister Churchill said last week Rommel had perhaps 250,000 troops in Tunisia—chiefly seasoned campaigners from Libya and European battlefronts—while Allied forces in Africa total approximately half a million.

Report Eisenhower Has Narrow Escape

LONDON—(INS)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander-in-chief of Allied forces in North Africa, was reported today by the London Daily Mirror to have narrowly escaped a brush with the Germans while touring the central Tunisian front last week-end.

It was related in a dispatch from North Africa that Gen. Eisenhower had passed through the town of Sidi Bou Zed, just west of the German-held Faid pass, only an hour or so before Nazi mechanized forces launched their attack on American positions.

The group of officers with which Gen. Eisenhower was traveling was said to have heard at one time spasmodic firing at the start of the German drive.

New Guinea, Ripped By Bombs

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA — (AP) — American heavy bombers and Australian long-range fighters pressed air action against the Japanese yesterday, bombing and machine-gunning widely-scattered points in New Guinea and New Britain.

On the ground, Allied jungle troops pushed along on the heels of the Japanese continuing their withdrawal from the Wau area toward Mubo, 12 miles south of Salamaua, with forward units slashing at the Harrassed enemy as they moved nearer to Mubo.

U. S. Subs Boost Toll Of Jap Shipping

WASHINGTON —(AP)— American submarine toll on Japanese shipping to scattered Pacific bases today was increased by seven more enemy ships—five sunk, one damaged and one probably sunk.

The new scores against enemy sea supply lines, reported by the navy yesterday, brought to 181 the number of ships sunk or crippled by American undersea scrappers.

Except for one medium-sized cargo ship, all vessels listed as victims could be classed as Japanese fleet auxiliaries — presumably carrying men and equipment to enemy island bases.

The cargo ship was reported damaged along with a cruiser which was listed as "probably sunk."

Japs Claim 73 Allied Planes Shot Down

Japanese imperial headquarters in a communique broadcast by the Tokyo radio and recorded by the Associated Press said today Japanese naval air force and army and navy anti-aircraft batteries had shot down 73 planes in the Solomons, the southwestern Pacific and the Aleutians in a 15-day period ending Feb 15.

Eight others were damaged, the communique claimed, admitting loss of only two of their own planes.

Against these latest claims stand two U. S. navy communiques of two days ago giving details of fighting from Jan. 29 through Feb. 15 in the Solomons region. The Japanese, these U. S. war bulletins said, lost at least 63 planes against 22 for the Americans.

Another Washington communique, on Feb. 15, told of a raid on Kiska in the Aleutians on Saturday in which three Zeros were shot down. Another Japanese plane was shot down in the western Aleutians.

Arson Officers Link Escaper To Series of Fires.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A convicted pyromaniac who escaped from the Cleveland state hospital was questioned by police arson squad members today in connection with a series of 12 fires which caused minor damage here in the past 48 hours.

The arsonist, 34, a former inmate of the Lima state hospital, was arrested last night near the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company plant in Akron. Detectives James Panovec and Rudolph Charvat said.

are instructed to ignore red lights and she was permitted to complete delivery of the large army maintenance truck to the Galion All Steel Body company plant.

Commissioner Boals said the truck was one of a caravan of three vehicles. "Army convoys," Boals said, "notify local police of the likely time of their arrival here after reaching a point 50 miles away. Our police escort usually is aided by military men with guides stationed at hazardous intersections.

"We've had similar trouble with civilian drivers of equipment intended for army use but until it is accepted by the army the concerns or persons exercising private control will be held liable to obey all traffic regulations and responsible for all damages resulting from violations."

The front of an auto driven by Wayne Kiner, Butler, was badly damaged by impact with the truck. The rear of the Kiner car was smashed when the truck, careening diagonally across the intersection, felled a heavy utility pole which landed on the top of the Kiner car. The truck was undamaged when it came to rest on the church steps. No one was hurt.

State highway patrolmen yesterday released two employes of the White Motor company, Cleveland, after lecturing them for violating speed regulations on U. S. Route 42. The civilian drivers were delivering army trucks to Fort Hayes, Columbus, they told police, who reported their speed at 70 miles an hour in violation of the 35-mile victory speed and driving instructions posted in the truck cabs.

NAZIS LAUNCH TALK CAMPAIGN

Try To Split U. S., Britain and Russia With Hints of Negotiated Peace.

Goebbels, Nazi propaganda chief, had given Brell and Matsel further ammunition by:

1 "Discovering" an alleged secret memorandum from Moscow to Communist cells throughout Europe assuring them that Russia's alliance "with the plutocracies is only temporary and the communization of the world will continue as soon as victory is won."

2 Permitting Germany's Balkan satellites to suspend the persecution of Jews, particularly those with connections abroad.

3. Abruptly stopping abusive references in German newspapers to Britain and the United States.

Italy was following right along in the footsteps of her partner to the north. Rome dispatches to Stockholm quoted Virginio Gayda, authoritative Fascist editor, that a compromise peace with the United States and Britain was possible—"but never with the Soviets."

"Communism will become overwhelming if peace isn't made rapidly," Gayda was quoted.

Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering paved the way for the Axis appeasement campaign last month in his speech on the 10th anniversary of the Nazi party's rise to power. At that time he said that Germany could "deal with gentlemen—but not with Soviets." His speech significantly was devoid of abuse of the United States and Britain.

In Washington, Elmer Davis, Office of War Information director, dismissed the Axis peace feelers as part of a "talk offensive" to divide the Allies.

"The Axis is trying to drive a wedge between Great Britain, the United States and their Allies," he said. "Apparently fighting the Russians isn't too much fun for them."

ed States Navy at Midway and the Coral sea are doubtless steps in the right direction—they are merely steps in the right direction . . . For the magnificent fight that was waged at Guadalcanal during the past six months attests to the fact that the defeat of the forces of evil though long and arduous will finally come to pass. . . ."

Turning to the subject of the post-war world, Mme. Chiang said that the present generation should remember that, "while we must not be visionary, we must have vision so that peace should not be partial in part and should not be provincial or nationalistic or even continental in concept but universal in scope and humanitarian in action . . ."

"We shall have faith that, at the writing of peace America and our other gallant allies will not be obtunded," she said, "by the mirage of contingent reasons of expediency.

"Man's mettle is tested both in adversity and in success. Twice is this true of the soul of a nation."

REDS INCREASE BATTLE WEDGES

Smash Beyond Kharkov, Kursk as Columns Pierce Deeply Into Donets Basin.

noon communique as recorded by the London Soviet radio Monitor.

(The armies of Col. Gen. F. I. Golikov which had taken Kharkov were pushing forward on the front and a flank carried a column into a town where it fell on the enemy's materiel, the Russians said.

(An enemy garrison was routed in fighting north of Kursk, they added.)

Russian units previously had penetrated from the east to Lozovaya, which lies about 70 miles northeast of Dnieperopetrovsk.

Between Kharkov and Kursk, a column apparently operating from the newly-captured base at Kursk, took Graivoron, only 20 miles north of Bogodukhov, the Russians said, and then advanced into another unidentified city after beating down fierce counterattacks.

North of Kursk a number of towns were captured and northwest of the city and west of Fatezh Soviet units forced a water crossing and stormed into another large town, it was announced.

"Under the blows of our units enemy troops are retreating with heavy losses," the Russians said.

(Possibly the latter city was Dmitriev, which lies across a tributary of the Seim river. The offensive in this region threatens to fashion a pincers from the south about Orel, the last remaining German stronghold on the line from which they launched last summer's offensive.)

On the southern front, menacing the Germans left in the Donets basin the Russians announced the recapture of Slavyansk, a rail center about 30 miles north of the positions where Russian units previously had thrust to Kramatorsk.

EXPLAIN RADIO BEAM SILENCE

Authorities Say Stations Off Air Because of Unknown Target.

SAN FRANCISCO—(INS)—The western defense command and 4th army explained today that an unidentified target, later identified, was the cause of an order for a civil aeronautics authority radio beam silence in the Los Angeles district last night.

Ohio radio beams giving directions to airplanes went off the air. Commercial radios were not affected.

The silence was called at 9:01 p. m. and was followed by a yellow alert at 9:22. The all clear signal was given at 9:29 p. m.

Move for Repeal of Time Law Gains; Council Acts Tonight

be continued indefinitely, the other that clocks be set back an hour in late October or November. Should council fail to pass either ordinance the state ruling setting clocks back one hour Sunday will automatically become effective.

Continuing their balloting today News-Journal readers voted 18 to 1 in the city for retention of war time while a slight reversal was noted among rural readers, 11 favoring return to "slow" time as compared to eight urging "fast" time retention.

At Shelby, school officials and manufacturers disclosed today they had decided to abide by council's action favoring the staying on war time. Officials predicted the rural Shelby population will keep to war time, conforming to the schedule of business houses, offices and factories.

At Millersburg, the town council voted to retain war time for the present, in response to many expressions of opposition to the proposed change. At Ashland, where council voted Tuesday to retain war time, it was understood the slower time might be adopted next fall, but Common Pleas Judge H. E. Culbertson announced his court will operate on the new state time inasmuch as he draws salary from the state. Jurors ordered to report next Wednesday have been instructed to appear at 9 a. m. central war time.

In Cleveland it was indicated Ohio's largest city will have "fast" summer time and "slow" winter time, clocks to be moved back the last Sunday in September.

Lima's council last night voted to follow the same plan which will place that city in conformity with principal population and war production centers in the state. Warren's council voted 9 to 1 against a change.

Considerable confusion still prevailed over Ohio today and it was indicated that more confusion will follow.

Farmers expressed concern that any gains they would receive by the new time would be nullified by some cities' decisions to remain upon the present time.

Federal functions, railroads and interstate buses will remain on eastern war time.

Radio stations, communication services and industries hurried adjustments of schedules to allow for the hour's difference between the new state time and the old.

Legislators wondered if the resulting confusion might prompt action to bring up the matter again before the session ended.

Gov. Bricker's comment yesterday that the legislature "can at any time give this matter further consideraton" was interpreted in some capitol quarters that such a move toward repeal may develop.

Sen. Frank E. Whittemore, R., Summit, majority floor leader who opposed the change, predicted the legislature may not be through with the controversial matter.

Here's tabulation of Wednesday's voting in News-Journal time change poll.

TRAIN KILLS 3 AT LOUDONVILLE

Mangled Bodies of Perrysville Women Strewn Along Tracks For 300 Feet.

Paul, is employed as an operator at the Mohican tower on the Pennsylvania railroad and was on duty about a half mile from the Spring street crossing.

The three women went to work daily in the car, Mrs. Hartshorne sharing rides with her companions on the trip to and from Perrysville.

Friends of the women said Miss Beathler was seriously injured, when struck by a car more than a year ago and was in Mansfield General hospital for several months. She returned to work last summer.

The bodies were taken to the Swank Funeral home in Loudonville. The body of Miss Beathler later was removed to the Byerly Funeral home at Lucas. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Surviving Mrs. Hartshorne, besides her husband, are a son, William, at home, and a daughter, Mrs. Miriam Cramer who is in New York with her soldier husband; one sister, Mrs. Thelma Thomas of Perrysville, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKee of Perrysville.

Miss Conrad, whose parents are dead, lived with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. McKee, who are Mrs. Hartshorne's parents. Also surviving Miss Conrad are three sisters, Gladys and Betty of Perrysville and Eilene of Shreve, and three brothers, Kenneth of Loudonville, Henry of Akron, and Gerald of Loudonville.

A brother, Garr Beathler of Perrysville, survives Miss Beathler.

to catch them red-handed to prove violation of our price regulations."

The official, while expressing a firm conviction that the black market can be licked, said that the only positive cure for the current maldistribution of meat supplies was consumer rationing and establishment of new specific dollars and cents ceilings on meat, now in the process of preparation.

Food Administrator Wickard requested suspension of canned fish and canned meat sales because a large volume of consumer buying threatened to reduce supplies "unreasonably" before fair sharing under rationing" could be instituted.

OPA said the "freeze" will not last longer than 60 days, indicating that rationing of meat will be under way at least by April 20, although it may come earlier.

"Increasing consumer purchases of canned fish and canned meat will exhaust current supplies if allowed to run their course," OPA said. "Unless these sales are halted, there is real danger that we will have little or no canned fish or canned meat to consume later in the year."

OPA pointed out that military and lend-lease requirements will take more than 75 per cent of the total production of canned meats and more than half of the total 1943 canned fish pack.

Pig's feet, pig's foot tidbits, dried beef in glass and other items which are not sealed and heat-treated are not covered by the prohibition on sales.

Establishment of the specific dollars and cents price ceilings on meat is expected to aid in smashing the black market.

The new program will fix specific ceilings which will be the same in every comparable store in the country. Currently, each store may have a different price ceiling on meat, based on its highest March, 1942 price.

The official pointed out that meat distribution is a tremendous problem to handle, since there are between 550 and 600 large slaughterers, from 1,500 to 2,000 medium slaughterers and approximately 1,500,000 "country slaughterers" and retail butchers in the nation.

The latter are the principal source of black market violation, he said.

The black market operators purchase meat from the small slaughterers at fancy prices, and peddle it to retail outlets at higher levels. The scarcity of meat and the extreme demand for the product incite the violations, it was explained.

The OPA executive asserted, however, that the price agency—with more than 30 arrests—has curbed a black market in the New York and New England areas. Two Washington, D. C., slaughterers were arrested last night.

ried men without dependents and those with dependents.

While the bill was strongly backed, some members of the military affairs committee expressed doubt that it would accomplish what Kilday seeks—exemption for married men with dependents. It would, it was conceded, delay drafting of fathers.

Sen. Bankhead (R.,Ala.) submitted to colleagues the bills to halt drafting of farm labor, and sought cooperation in introducing them in the senate.

The first bill calls for the deferment of those regularly engaged in an agricultural occupation or endeavor or whose principal occupation consists of employment in connection with production or harvesting of any farm commodity. The second measure authorizes and directs the secretary of war to furlough, until Jan. 1, 1944, all men in the armed forces in the U. S. who were engaged in those occupations prior to their induction.

MILLERSBURG—Sixteen Boy Scouts and their advisors were guests of the Millersburg council at the regular meeting Monday night. With them were Charles Hershman, Rev. Ira D. Matthews, W. D. Giffin, James Rhinehart and Alex Fehndrich. These Scouts who were termed the oncoming business men, fathers and city officials, were given a hearty welcome by Mayor E. M. Cox.

Mayor Cox stated that numerous complaints had been made recently regarding the boys of under 16 frequenting the poolrooms of Millersburg, and there was an open discussion of the matter. It was pointed out by City Solicitor W. W. Badger that there was no harm in boys playing a game of pool but it was the wagering that often accompanies the game that is undesirable.

Although no definite action was taken it was agreed that the owners of the poolrooms be contacted and their cooperation sought in keeping the under-age youths from playing pool, unless the boys show a written permit from a parent.

ASHLAND—A directed verdict for the defendant ended a two-day trial here Tuesday of the suit of Della Wolf against Dr. George Riebel, Ashland physician, in which the plaintiff sought $15,000 damages for alleged negligence in setting a fractured arm and in giving treatment.

The evidence failed to indicate negligence on the part of the physician, the court stated.

DIM-OUT RULES TO BE STUDIED DURING SESSION

Civilian Defense Council To Prepare For Tests To Be Staged Soon.

Dim-out regulations to be put in operation test in Mansfield within the next three weeks in preparation for state-wide black-out tests will be discussed at a meeting Friday night of the Mansfield civilian defense council.

Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, defense co-ordinator, will receive reports from various members and committees relative to conferences held this week with merchants, manufacturers and others regarding their co-operation with the dimout and blackout tests.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates yesterday announced a school for all members of the department and discussion of black-out regulations provided under a city ordinance passed by council last June. Mayor W. J. Locke, after belated conferences last fall with industrialists and others, promulgated specific rules for blackouts which must be understood by all policemen, Chief Bates ruled.

On Tuesday evening all senior zone wardens of the civilian defense organization will assemble at defense headquarters in City hall. The meeting, at 7:30 p. m., has been called by Allan M. Harman, assistant chief air raid warden. All senior sector wardens must present complete reports at this meeting relative to the degree of training of wardens and other personnel in their respective sectors. "If you can't come, be represented by a substitute," Harman has told zone leaders.

CTION LOOMING N CITY'S CAN ALVAGE DELAY

ed For Truck Appropriation Cited as Chief Snag In Collection Program.

n face of mounting criticism of at is officially described as lavoidable delay" in collection ashes and tin cans by municipal ncies, council may be asked to- ht to provide solutions.

Tin cans are to be collected by city in compliance with a War oduction Board regulation. In cember council passed an ordi- ice appropriating $260 for pur- se of a used truck which, with additional employes, would stitute the can salvage division the garbage collection service ervised by Lester Linham.

At the January meeting coun- was told by Mayor W. J. cke that the truck sought d been disposed of and that w legislation, likely providing ore funds, would be necessary r acquisition of a truck. Lin- m declared today that no men d been hired and will not be til the truck is available.

ervice Director Fred B. Wolff today that a house-to-house collection of cans appears impracticable and that neighborhoods would be asked to assemble their empty cans at a central point in the block or larger sector on designated dates to facilitate collections which, he said, must be restricted to the least possible distances because of tire and gasoline rationing.

Wolff doubts if a program similar to that used last fall in the school scrap drive would be feasible but some think children would be eager to carry their households' empty cans to the school yards as a real contribution to the war effort.

Linham says that cans must be processed—ends cut out and the cylinders or other shapes flattened—and should not be exposed to snow or rain. Rusted cans lose their tin content, the supervisor says, and one shiny container of ordinary size holds about one thimbleful of tin for salvage, he explained.

The city is about six weeks behind schedule in collection of ashes, Wolff said. This is due to "considerable sickness" among collection department employes last fall, he said, and to faulty condition of some of the motor equipment which cannot be rapidly remedied because of war restrictions on replacement parts.

"Every effort is being made," Wolff averred, "to bring the schedules to date. There is no possibility of using over-taxed street department trucks for this purpose."

LOSE WORKERS

21 Ohio Dairy Groups Forced To Quit Programs.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Twenty-one out of 62 Ohio dairy herd improvement associations have been forced to discontinue their work because men employed as testers joined the armed forces or went into war industry at higher wages, Ohio State university's department of animal husbandry reported.

In view of the slim hope of replacing these men, special training courses for testers have been arranged by the department at the university but the enrollment is low. The improvement associations now accept women as testers, but since testers must have automobiles, few women are interested in the work.

Out of 10,164 cows tested for Ohio associations in November, 163 were so unproductive that their owners sold them for beef.

MEETINGS SET

Tire Retreaders, Vulcanizers To Hold Session Here.

Meetings will be held in Mansfield on the evenings of Feb. 25 and March 4 for all tire retreading and vulcanizing operators in a 10-county area surrounding Mansfield to analyze requirements of the government's tire rationing program.

John J. Applan, proprietor of the Applan Tire Retreading and Vulcanizing company, 24 East Sixth street, said the meetings will be held in his offices. On both occasions radio messages will be heard from Rubber Director Jeffers. Meetings will be held every two weeks during the war emergency, according to instructions received by Applan who was named one of Ohio's 11 vice-chairmen at last Sunday's organization meeting in Columbus.

Applan will be charged with making inspections of all shops in his district and certifying their performance ability to their respective ration boards. His office also will be a clearing house for machinery replacements requested by shop owners.

TELEPHONE 4251-6

THE CAPITAL-- By Raymond Clapper

INGTON—China is essential in our scheme defeating Japan. Without the co-operation any plan for military victory over Japan seriously weakened. Likewise, China is to us in any arrangement for security acific after the war.

xtent of our interest in China was regis- all time when we refused to sell her out to Japan just before Pearl Harbor. We took the risk of war with Japan rather than agree to proposals of Tokyo that would have left China a slave of Japan. We took the side of China not out of a kindness of heart but because the safety of the United States would have been jeopardized by allowing Japan to become supreme in the Orient.

Those facts should be sufficient to prove to some of the who are discouraged that the United as every interest now and in the future, had in the past, in helping China. They uggest that anything we are not doing a is not done out of neglect but because difficulties to overcome first.

Chiang Kai-Shek is likely to receive a ovation, and undoubtedly some in con- l be moved to demand that more aid go . Such suggestions already have been ring the lend-lease hearings, which show little help to China as compared with and Russia. There is no reason, however, enthusiasm for our sturdy friends to out of balance. Demands for changes rogram can cause confusion but are not fect the plans.

Prime Minister Churchill's speech last which he said the plan was to defeat Ger- st and then turn to Japan, some criticism d in this country. President Roosevelt, dress on Lincoln's birthday, undertook to at criticism by saying that our policy toward our Japanese enemies is the same as our policy toward our Nazi enemies—a policy of fighting hard on all fronts and winning the war as soon as we can.

But the fact is that we can do little in China until we have sea and land routes in there. We can't even do a large-scale bombing job without having ground transportation by which to move in gasoline and bombs. Although bombing must be heavy and persistent to be effective, we will try anyway to do what we can, including such bombing as we can, on the present basis of using air supply lines.

Yet it is clear that real help to China waits, first of all, on the winning of North Africa. The hard days of the war in North Africa are at hand. The Germans are trying some savage tank smashes at us now. People here look for a fairly fast clean-up of Africa, but they expect it will be costly. President Roosevelt said the other night the casualties would be heavy. Secretary of War Stimson also warned us a few days ago to expect many casualties. Washington is preparing the country for the price that will have to be paid to win a victory.

The compartively easy occupation of North Africa has misled many into thinking it would be easy to push the Germans out of Tunisia. We had favorable breaks in going ashore. General Eisenhower almost got to Tunis in the first sprint. There it was, almost before his eyes, with only a small number of Axis troops holding it. But the Americans had raced ahead of their supplies by several days and had to wait for them to catch up. During the wait the winter rains began. That ended hope of immediate action. We had to dig in, and Germany gained time during which to ferry an army across the Mediterranean. Any chance of getting North Africa without a hard fight vanished forever. Now that hard fight has begun.

No other claims will have priority until the battle of North Africa is over. That is why China needs to be patient a little while longer.

PROBERS ARRIVE TO STUDY PLANE PLANT OUTPUT

Senators on Tour of Factory Making 'Hell-Divers' To Check Progress.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—Reports of unsatisfactory progress at the sprawling Curtiss-Wright Navy airplane plant at Port Columbus were to be investigated today by the U. S. Senate War Investigating committee.

Sen. Harry S. Truman (D-Missouri) the committee chairman, was to lead his investigators in a tour of the plant today, and follow that with a hearing in Washington which Truman said "would get all the facts."

Senator Truman said the committee would go from Columbus to Detroit to probe similar reports at the Ford Willow run bomber plant tomorrow.

Also on the committee which was to visit central Ohio's largest war plant are Ohio's junior Republican Senator, Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, and Sen. Monrad Wallgren (D-Washington.) Wallgren, in Washington, said that he was much concerned "over the production rate and would like to learn the reason thereof."

The Columbus plant builds "hell-diver" dive-bombers and "Seagull" scout-observation planes for the navy. Since production figures are a strict military secret, there is no public record of how well the plant may be meeting its quotas, or what those quotas may be.

Hugh Fulton, the committee's counsel, denied in Washington a statement attributed to him that the production rate at Curtiss-wright was "one of the two worst in the nation," however, and plant manager J. P. Davey said that he "would welcome an investigation."

Davey declared that production on one of the two types of planes manufactured at the plant was "up to schedule," and that the rate on the other is "nearing a satisfactory figure."

If production of the plant should be discovered to be less than should be expected, the committee is expected to blame the loss on one or more of three factors: poor management, failure of labor to co-operate, or too much change in navy specifications.

On the other hand, there have been unconfirmed reports that, almost as soon as the plant reached quantity production, the navy would change the specifications on the planes due to some new lesson learned from the war.

WANT SPEED ON BILL EXEMPTING TAX ON MEALS

Legislators Press For Action on Bill In Committee Since Jan. 26.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Pressure was brought to bear on the state house of representatives today for action on the proposal of Governor Bricker to exempt restaurant foods from the retail sales tax.

The senate unanimously passed a bill to exempt restaurant foods and prescription medicines from the sales tax on Jan. 26 and sent it to the house the same day. Little action has been forthcoming since.

The bill was referred to the house taxation committee Jan. 28 and after one hearing was referred, along with others proposing additional exemptions, to a taxation subcommittee.

Rep. Aaron T. Grad, R., Hamilton, subcommittee chairman, said today that "considerable pressure" has been brought upon him to hasten action on the exemption bills.

Meanwhile, the senate today had received a proposal for a war-risk surtax on industrial "war babies," designed to build up reserves in the state unemployment compensation fund against the possibility of post-war unemployment.

Sen. Frank E. Whittemore, R., Summit, who introduced the proposal, said the war risk tax would range from a minimum of one-tenth of one per cent to one per cent maximum.

Only those concerns which, because of recent establishment or sudden increase in employes, had less than a nine per cent reserve based on payrolls of the past three years would pay the additional tax, Whittemore explained.

State officials estimated the measure might affect approximately 1,000 concerns employing 350,000 persons in war work.

"Concerns which are devoted almost entirely to war production should pay more heavily than others during the war," Whittemore said, "because after the war their production may fold up and their employes then would be carried on compensation funds accumulated from normal industries."

The war-risk schedule would expire June 30, 1945.

Sen. Kane introduced a bill to fix a rate base for utility rates upon actual legitimate cost of utility establishments rather than the present "cost of reproduction less depreciation" formula used by the state public utilities commission.

The proposed formula, the same used by the federal power commission, would eliminate expensive redetermination of the rate base every time a utility rate change was proposed, Kane said.

IR ENOUGH-- By Westbrook Pegler

NGTON—It certainly would be real nice ll God's children would learn to love one n that brave new world of the future in ne and space will be almost annihilated the breeds and creeds drawn together. appily, experience does not argue that quaintance makes for understanding and .

e in mind a miniature experiment of the kind.

Some years ago, in a large city a newly-married couple explored the outskirts in all directions for a love nest in which to start life together and found an ideal little apartment in a new building. A big housing promoter was putting up half a dozen huge apartment blocks. Almost all the rooms were light and airy, the heating equipment was the latest, and kitchen was, as the bride said, cute. So they three-room apartment and moved in. ew development contained quarters for housand persons and there was nothing ases which forbade children or dogs, and the rents were low because, at that location was a little remote.

ese attractions drew a full complement s in no time and many of them came out ams to a new life in clean surroundings. conditions could make people happy, and this would be a prelude to paradise.

of the families had lots of children and on the little ones began to play pranks. ld stick pins in the doorbells, yell in the and scrawl with chalk and crayons on the heir mothers did not seem to mind but be said that they were too busy mothering ng and doing for the tots because when- weather was fair they would come down- h campstools and park themselves along to gossip and relax.

was just beginning to come along then y family had one and they would turn on loud most of the days and evenings so that the areaway was filled with sounds that were not always melodious.

Sometimes individuals who were nervous or who worked nights and needed their afternoon sleep would yell out into the court demanding quiet and from several apartment windows there would come the answering cry, "Shut up!" which wasn't exactly nice or any way to cultivate the brotherhood of man.

One family in a half-basement apartment used to drink almost every night and play some kind of card game which called for sharp exclamations in a foreign language. This would go on until past midnight and along about 11, when the families which had been playing the radios and high-powered phonographs all day and all evening would now want to sleep and voices would rise in the darkness on all sides telling the drinkers at their card game to go die. The card players would yell "Shut up!" and go on with the bootleg port and the card game.

There were plenty of dogs, too, and they would yap and bark, some of them for hours on end when their families went away and left them locked up. A parrot also contributed to the sounds in the areaway and after quite a while one of the night-workers whose sleep was so wantonly disturbed by the radios and phonographs in the daytime hit upon a horrible revenge. He had a phonograph and a loud comedy record in which the singer's voice would go off into insane cackles of laughter ha-ha-ha-ha-ha, like that, and he would set the dingbat and let it repeat itself for an hour around dawn.

After about a year along comes a man with a pushcart and parks it on the curb and then another and then some more and these would yell their merchandise and throw their paper trash and cabbage leaves and banana stalks in the street and the upshot of it was that this nice, tidy, little brave new world of the future became another slum.

There were no killings or serious fights but you couldn't say they all loved one another because they were thrown together.

The happy young couple chucked that brotherhood of man thing at the end of their second year in this preview of paradise and moved away.

'ALLEY' LIQUOR SALES PROBED

State Suspends Cleveland Store Manager as Paper Bares 'Privilege.'

CLEVELAND —(AP)— A liquor department investigation today followed publication of a story by the Cleveland Plain Dealer that its reporters had observed the manager of a state store making back-door sales to "special privilege customers."

The paper said the store was closed to the public because its stocks supposedly had been exhausted.

State Liquor Director Don A. Fisher suspended the store manager, Basil O. Keller, after District Supervisor W. P. Harris of Cleveland informed him of the newspaper's story. Fisher said Harris reported Keller had admitted "irregularities."

In ordering an immediate investigation, the liquor director asserted he had received numerous reports of special preference being given customers in other stores, but "this is the first tip that we've investigated that has turned out to be anything but a rumor."

The Plain Dealer said two reporters and a photographer watched the back door of a Euclid avenue store for several hours.

The paper said its employes saw and photographed the transfer of six cases of whiskey from the store to an automobile parked in the alley.

Shown the photographs and told the reporters' story, the Plain Dealer asserted Keller admitted trading the six cases to a food merchant for a quantity of coffee and bean sprouts, "which I had been trying to get for three months."

Keller, according to the newspaper, also admitted a back-door sale of a case of whisky to a Cleveland policeman.

A lot of justifiable "kicks" have been received at Boy Scout headquarters the last two days following the statement by scout officials that troop five had won the safety razor collection contest. Troop five did turn in the most razors, 66, but it was the largest number of boys, so it was decided to determine the winner on a percentage basis. On this basis, troop 12, with only 12 boys, finished first with 41 razors, troop 20, with 16 boys, is second with 30 razors, and troop 5, with 28 boys, finished third.

IOWA SOON TO ENTER BATTLE

Five Sister Dreadnaughts Are Being Speeded To Completion.

(By United Press)

BROOKLYN NAVY YARD — The super-dreadnaught Iowa, first of the six 45,000-ton battleships which the United States navy is rushing to completion, will soon be engaged in action on one of the seven seas.

Shipyard officials announced today that the five sister ships of the Iowa generally are well ahead of construction schedules. The Iowa was launched seven months ahead of schedule.

The New Jersey which is being outfitted in the Philadelphia Navy Yard, will be the second of the 45,000-ton battleships to put to sea. The Missouri which is only a stone's throw from her sister ship, the Iowa, in the Brooklyn Navy Yard probably will be the third.

As the world's largest battleship, the Iowa will give the American navy terrific offensive power. It has more anti-aircraft guns and heavy artillery, including batteries of 16-inch guns, than ever was assembled on one ship.

According to reported figures the sea-colossus is 880 feet long, and its beam is 108 feet, which is only inches narrower than any lock in the Panama Canal. This means that she can quickly be transferred to either the Atlantic or Pacific.

The Iowa reportedly has a draft of 36 feet and a rated speed of more than 30 knots per hour.

INITIATE CANDIDATES AT MOOSE CHAPTER NIGHT

Mrs. Lue Willie Honored Guest at Formal Initiation of Seventeen Candidates; Mrs. Lowman Has Charge of Program.

INITIATION for seventeen candidates was held Wednesday night, when Mrs. J. W. Lowman, recorder of the Women of the Moose, Mansfield chapter 47, held her chapter night program at the Moose home. The formal initiation was in charge of Mrs. Lester Perry, senior regent.

The candidates wore miniature women, made of yarn, who represented a recorder carrying a recorder's book printed with the name "Nannie" in honor of Mrs. Lowman.

The class was in honor of Mrs. Lue Willie, associate P. H. D. past president, and chairman of the Mooseheart hospital guild. She was robed in a black graduate gown. Mrs. Willie gave a report on sponsoring a nurse. The chapter presented Mrs. Willie with a corsage and a gift.

The initiation services were expressed in tableau, the first held in any Women of the Moose chapter. Faith was told by Mrs. Joseph F. Gresser, graduate regent; Hope by Mrs. Louis J. Piller, junior regent; Charity by Mrs. Lester Raby, chaplain, and Fraternity by Mrs. Perry.

Between each part, the curtain was drawn on a stage beautifully decorated with an outdoor scene, representing a garden, with palms, fern, and morning glories on a white picket fence. Those participating in the tableau were Mrs. Harold Merryman, Mrs. H. H. Donley, Mrs. Pearl Miller, Mrs. D. S. Smith, Miss Eva Warga, Mrs. Violet Zehner, Mrs. Gilbert Mast and Mrs. Lowman. Miss Eleanor Orason sang "The Old Rugged Cross," "We Need Thee Every Hour" and "Safe In the Arms of Jesus" accompanied by Mrs. Earl Beilstein, pianist.

Members in tableau were dressed in Grecian gowns. The stage was illuminated by colored lights. The closing tableau was the salute to the American flag. Mrs. Zehner sang "This Is Worth Fighting For," and a reading, "The American Flag," was given by Mrs. Lowman. A demonstration was given in song on "How Betsy Ross Made the Flag," by Mrs. Eunice Crawford, Miss Eleanor Orason, Mrs. Zehner and Mrs. Ernest Winters.

"There's a Star Spangled Banner Waving Somewhere" was sung by little Patty Catlett. Mrs. A. Newman, the star recorder, from Galion, was a guest. She gave a short talk, and received a gift from the recorder. Mrs. Mast presented Mrs. Lowman with a corsage and each participant in the program received a gift from Mrs. Lowman. Visitors from Galion, Marion and Akron, were included in the 150 in attendance.

Mrs. Dallas Tupps, chairman of the war relief committee, presented the chapter with a war bond. A covered-dish dinner has been planned for March 1. The next regular meeting will be March 3 at the Moose home.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Oh, there is Katharine!" I exclaimed, getting to my feet. "Will you excuse me, please?" But as I started for the door my father stopped me.

"We'll make sure first," he said. "Georges, will you please take these other gentlemen into the bedroom and lock the door after you? I'll come for you the moment we are sure about this visitor."

The three men promptly went into the bedroom, and when we heard the key turned my father opened my outer door to the length of the night chain.

"Ah, Katharine!" he said, undoing the chain, "I'm glad to see you, but here's somebody whose joy will be even greater."

I was at the threshold before Katharine could cross it, and caught her in my arms with a warm welcome kiss.

"Please get your things off quickly," I said. "I can hardly wait to talk to you. But first, how are they?"

"Everybody and everything in tiptop condition," she said, and then my father struck in.

"Take Katharine into your bedroom, Margaret," he said, "then you won't have to wait for your news, and we can can talk here undisturbed."

First my father introduced the men to Katharine, purposely, I think, naming Georges last. But the fugitive king did not wait for the formal words. He sprang forward and took Katharine's outstretched hand, bent from the waist and kissed it fervently.

"Mrs. Bickett!" he exclaimed. "How marvelous to meet you again after all these years."

"Georges!" she said with patent amazement. "I do not understand, but—welcome, dear boy."

"I'll explain everything," I said, hurrying her away, for I noticed her fatigued look.

"You're not to say a word," I told here severely, when we were alone, "until you've had a cup of tea. No protests!"

Madge Makes Tea.

Katharine only smiled weakly at me; shut her eyes, but I knew she was not sleeping. In record time I got out my tiny electric grill and made just enough tea for two large cups for Katharine. Next from a thermos bottle I put cream into a pitcher, then arranged a tray and brought it to the side of my bed.

"Your tea, Madam," I intoned.

She opened her eyes and smiled, then sat up and stabbed her finger at the single cup on the tray.

"Why only one cup?" she demanded.

"Because I had tea just a short time ago," I prevaricated. "There are just two cupfuls here, and you're going to drink both of them, or I'm going to know why. You look like a ghost."

"I am tired," she acknowledged, as I poured her tea, then set the tray on the bed. After I had stuffed pillows behind her, she sipped the tea with evident enjoyment. I waited inexorably until she had finished the second cup.

When I had put the things away, I found Katharine sitting in a chair, leaning forward.

"Before we talk about anything else," she pleaded, "tell me, Madge, have you had any news of Jack?"

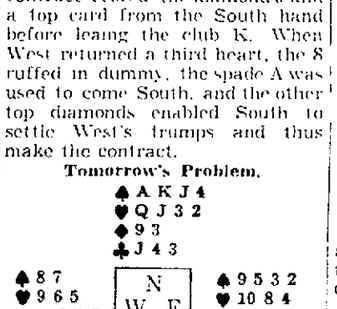
"The Authority on Authorities"

SEVERAL WAYS TO LOSE

Can you remember away back when we needed policemen to regulate the heavy traffic on city streets? Most of us can, and recall how important they were. It is the same, sometimes, with leaving a little trump in the dummy to control the return of a certain suit by the opponents. Having it there can protect the integrity of the declarer's longer trump holding and enable him to use his own for drawing the enemy's trumps



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

3 ♣	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	4 ♦	Pass

That contract was essayed by practically everybody in a big social duplicate, and it was funny to notice the different ways people got set. One declarer, after ruffing the second heart, scored the diamond J, A, K and Q to clear the trump suit, then led the club Q to the A, whereupon three hearts set him three tricks. He was practically a beginner.

Another declarer, after ruffing the second heart, scored the diamond J, K and A, keeping the Q when he led the K to the A. West made him ruff another heart with his last trump, but himself later ruffed a club and cashed two hearts. A third declarer, after ruffing the second heart, scored only his diamond K and A before leading the club K to the A. When West then returned a third heart, the dummy ruffed with the diamond J, which set up West's 10 for a trump trick. He too, of course, walloped South.

The declarers who made the contract scored the diamond J and a top card from the South hand before leaing the club K. When West returned a third heart, the 8 ruffed in dummy, the spade A was used to come South, and the other top diamonds enabled South to settle West's trumps and thus make the contract.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer, West. Both sides vulnerable.)

If South bids 1-Club, North 1-Spade, South 1-No Trump, North 3-Hearts and South 3-No Trumps on this deal, and West leads the club 2, how much card-reading should East be able to do at once?

Fortnight Club Contributes Books

Each member of the Fortnight club contributed a book to the Victory Book campaign at their meeting Tuesday evening in the Women's club. Mrs. Charles Benedict was hostess.

The program topic, "Arctic Aviation," was discussed in a most interesting manner by Mrs. T. Y. McCray, who told of the rapid growth and development of the airways in the North Atlantic in the past decade and discussed the many comforts of modern civilization which have been made possible in the otherwise inaccessible outposts of the Arctic through the airways' expansion.

Miss Emma Waring will be hostess for the next meeting on March 2, at the Woman's club.

BIBLE CLASS MEETS.

Mrs. Dale Wachs opened her home in Little Washington to 11 members of the Wayside Bible class Tuesday evening, with Mrs. M. E. McFarland conducting the business session, and Mrs. Louis Rahn the lesson study. Another meeting is planned for March 2, at the home of Mrs. McFarland, in Little Washington.

MRS. IBE. HOSTESS.

Mrs. Ruth Ibe, Arnold avenue, presided as hostess to members of the Muskie club Wednesday afternoon. Sewing engaged the group and the members exchanged recipes during the afternoon. Luncheon was served at the close of the meeting. Mrs. John Holzmiller, Vale avenue will be the next hostess, March 3.

RAINBOW GIRLS.

The Rainbow Girls held their meeting Wednesday evening in the K. of P. hall. A report was given by Miss Mary McCartney, worthy advisor, on the Rainbow, DeMolay and Masonic party held at the Masonic temple, Feb 12. A "Hard Times Party" will be held March 19. Balloting will then take place. The following girls were initiated into the order: Shirley Zacharisen, Mary Hullinger, Beatrice McCune, and Ruth Kavohick. The next meeting will be held March 3.

HERE ARE POINT RATION RULES FOR RETAILERS

Dealer Must Post Official Table of Values in Place of Business.

Manstielders and residents of Richland county will sign up for Ration Book Number 2 at schoolhouses near their homes on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday next week. Like citizens throughout the nation, they are asking many questions about regulations governing the new ration system.

Here are rules, as outlined by the Office of Price Administration, governing retail sales of processed foods which will be sold under the new system beginning March 1:

A retailer is defined as a person who deals in processed foods and sells 50 per cent or more of his stocks directly to the consumer. A person also is a retailer, even if he sells less than 50 per cent of his stocks to consumers, in the following cases: (A) some of the stocks are transferred directly to consumers; (B) the rest of his stocks are kept just to supply his own establishments of whatever type, and (C) he supplies no wholesale establishments and not more than three retail establishments.

All retailers must post the official table of point values for processed foods in their store where customers can see it. Copies of this table will be available for retailers at all postoffices prior to rationing.

All retailers whose gross sales were more than $5,000 in December, 1942, or who own more than one retail store, are required to open a point bank account.

Although consumers will register for War Ration Book 2 the week of Feb. 21, during which week retail sales of processed foods will be frozen, the retailers themselves will not be required to register or establish an allowable inventory until approximately a month after rationing begins.

During the "freeze" period on sales, the retailers will obtain and post the official table of point values in his store. He will also familiarize his clerks with the new rationing procedure.

After the program begins, none of the rationed processed foods may be sold without the receipt of points equal to the point value of the item as listed on the official table.

Consumers will use the blue stamps from war Ration Book 2. The OPA will announce which stamps are good each period and retailers are forbidden to accept stamps after their valid period has expired.

Stamps must be removed from Book 2 in the presence of a clerk or delivery man. No stamps may be accepted from a book which does not have a validation stamp on the cover, over the space marked "this book not valid."

The retailer will receive certificates from some establishments, and other establishments with bank accounts will give the retailer ration checks for processed foods. If the retailer does not have a ration book account, he should take any ration check he receives to his local board and exchange it for a point certificate.

The retailer who does not have a bank account will pass his stamps and certificates on to his supplier. This transfer must be made within 10 days of the last date of validity.

During the first month of rationing the retailer must keep records of all processed foods bought and sold. This may be done on regular invoices, cash receipt or other forms.

Prior to the time of retailers' registration, the merchant must determine his "gross point inventory," "net point inventory," and his allowable inventory." He will determine the gross point inventory by adding the point value of all processed foods on hand, points in the bank and undeposited points on hand, the point value of processed foods in transit to his establishment, and points which have been transferred to the supplier for which merchandise has not yet been shipped.

From the sum of these items he will deduct points on hand for which he has not yet shipped or delivered merchandise which has been ordered. This will give him his net point inventory.

To determine his allowable inventory, the retailer will multiply the point value of all processed foods sold or transferred by him during the first ration period, by a factor to be announced by the OPA. If the net point inventory is smaller than the allowable inventory, the merchant may apply for a certificate equal to the difference on his registration form.

Provisions also are made for loans and adjustments necessary because of increased business or other factors.

Gardening for Victory

Points for Better Planting

By ROBERT GEIGER
(AP Features Writer)

IN CHOOSING the site for your 1943 Victory Garden apply these tests:

1. Does the land get plenty of sun? (at least one-half day.)

2. Is the soil fertile? (Seed house usually will test soil for a very nominal fee.)

3. Is water accessible? (This is important in regions where summer drought is a possibility.)

4. Is the drainage satisfactory? "If the garden slopes appreciably and is subject to washing of the soil the rows should not run up and down the hill," says Victor R. Boswell, garden specialist of the bureau of plant industry, agriculaural research administration.

Fourth In a Series

"If the plot is nearly level the rows should run the long way of the area for convenience in working.

"The first plantings of small and early vegetables should be along the south or east side, later crops being sown progressively across the area.

"This procedure avoids confusion and damage to the early sowings."

Flat culture is preferable to growing crops on raised beds or ridges, as it is less work. Ridges must be used on poorly drained areas or where heavy normal rainfall results in frequent flooding and where the furrow method of irrigation is used.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard and other U. S. food experts, studying 1943 food shortages and special needs, recommend these plants for every garden:

Of greatest importance are the green leafy vegetables such as leaf lettuce, cabbage, spinach, chard, collards, kale and turnip greens. Plan so that one or another of these will be available from early spring until freezing weather. It is emphasized they should be in every garden and eaten frequently.

Tomatoes and beans can be grown almost anywhere in the U. S. The tomatoes are easily canned and are excellent in summer salads.

Beets, carrots and onions can be stored for some time and if the space is available the plantings of these vegetables should be sufficiently large to afford a supply long after harvest.

After the site has been selected and the vegetables chosen, the gardener should make a garden plan, drawn to scale.

MARINE SAYS 'YOU GET MAD, NOT SCARED IN FIRST BATTLE'

ATHENS, Ga. — (INS) — What's the average American fighter's reaction to the first taste of battle?

"You don't really get scared; you just get mad."

That was the way Marine Sgt. Eugene T. Card sums it up, and he ought to know, for he spent five weeks in a hospital recovering from wounds received in the thick of the Battle of Midway.

Sgt. Card was a machine gunner in a flying Marine squadron that dive-bombed a Jap carrier at that battle and afterward, he said, the "navy doctors took three or four hours just picking pieces of Jap scrap iron out of me."

"When a bullet or a piece of shrapnel hits you, it's funny but you don't feel like quitting or running away," he explained. "you don't even feel any pain—you're too tense. All you feel is terrible, uncontrollable anger and you just want to hit back with everything but the kitchen sink."

But Sgt. Card has another job ahead of him for the immediate future. He has been transferred to the Navy's Pre-Flight School at the University of Georgia and he is intent on earning his wings so he can return to the fray, this time as a Marine pilot.

"That's not just propaganda you read about our boys being anxious to tangle with the Japs," he declared. "That's how they really feel—everyone I've ever met. Nobody stops to wonder if he will come out of it okay. All he wants is a crack at them. Funny, I guess, but that's how it really is."

Sgt. Card was attached to a squadron that took off from Midway early in the morning of June 4. Recounting the thrilling events of the next few hours, he related:

"We were all keyed up and rarin' to go. About 150 miles out we spotted the Jap fleet through a break in the clouds. Ours must have been the first squadron to attack them because the whole fleet was steaming along in regular formation. Then as we got another look through they spotted us and immediately headed their carriers around into the wind. Their Zeros were into the air in no time flat, trying to beat us off before we made our attack. The fleet was zigzagging all over the place and their anti-aircraft fire was so intense that their deck guns looked like one continuous sheet of flame.

"The shells burst around you way up there with little white puffs of smoke. They are pretty to watch until you stop to consider how much iron is packed into them.

"It was some of that stuff that got me, but I was too darn busy at first to realize there was anything wrong. Then I realized what caused that numbness in my knee and ankle and neck all I wanted to do was murder them.

"Before we peeled off to make our dive a burst came through the hatch, grazed my pilot's head and hit the compass right in front of him. He was spitting alcohol and glass for the rest of the trip. When we did peel off one of my guns jammed and I was working so hard to get it free I never realized where we were until I felt the bomb being released. Then suddenly we were leveling off just clear of the water with the guns of that carrier up above us pumping away like fury. I think we made a hit, though she still had lots of fight left in her when we headed home."

Card's pilot was Capt. Richard Fleming of St. Paul, Minn., and on the next flight out Capt. Fleming was forced to bail out and it is not known whether he was rescued. Sgt. Card is from Oakland, Calif.

THIEF SWAPS SHOES

PASADENA, Cal.—(U.P.)—A thief here amplified the Mosaic law of "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," by adding "and a shoe for a shoe." Mrs. Anita May Miletrich told the police that the thief carried away a good pair of army issue shoes belonging to her husband, an army sergeant, and left his old ones in their place.

THE BOY FROM MAINE

CHAPTER XXXII

Afterwards, remembering that moment as he did so many, many times, he wondered with a kind of cynical self-mockery, just how the fight would have turned out if it hadn't been interrupted—if the restaurant door had not disgorged a party of people at that instant. He supposed that Bailey would have beaten him to a bloody pulp, but the fact remained that he always regretted that the fight had been prevented. The people and the interruption stayed his hand involuntarily, and it was Rosalie now who caught his arm, saying in a low voice, "Hobey—please — remember what you promised me . . ."

Still clinging to his arm, she turned to Bailey, and said imperilously, "You wait for us, Bailey," and then almost pleadingly, "Let me talk to him."

So it was done. Bailey stood where he was, and Rosalie walked up the street a little way, and Hobey followed her. Behind him he could hear the voices of the people, and the slam of the door of the taxi which Bailey had relinquished to them. He had caught up with Rosalie now, and they walked only far enough to be out of Bailey's hearing. There was a low stone parapet in front of a darkened house, and Rosalie sat weakly down on it. "That was quite terrible," she said. "You two. I'm glad you didn't hit him."

"I'm not."

"It wouldn't have settled anything," Rosalie said.

"What did you expect me to do," Hobey said savagely, "kiss him? He's taking you away again. He's getting you back. Don't think I don't know it. If you go home with him—it'll be all over."

"I don't see why you say that," Rosalie said, barely audibly.

"Because I know it will. And so do you."

"If that's the way it is," Rosalie said slowly, "then that's the way it is. And I can't help it."

The strange, lost note was in her voice again, and Hobey said despairingly, "That's what I mean! That's how he's got you talking—as though you had no will of your own." He reached out suddenly with both his hands and shook her roughly by the shoulders. "Listen!" he said. "You've forgotten everything he's ever done to you—and all the reason you left him—and everything that's happened in all these weeks between! He comes into a restaurant drunk—and in ten minutes on the dance floor he manages to wipe out everything—every damn thing, from his own past behavior to all your promises to me. It just can't be like that!" he almost shouted at her. "You can't go back to him, I tell you! You're going to marry me, and I can make you happy—and he can't. He'd only make you miserable again, the way he has for years. The same things that happened before would happen again, don't you realize that?"

"I suppose so," Rosalie said, and a long time later she said. "Yes, I know that."

It was then that Hobey saw she was crying. "It's just no use," she said. "I can't explain it to you, Hobey. All you say is true, and, yet—I still belong to him. Nothing ever seems to change that—no matter how I try. I did try, Hobey," she said miserably, "and I do love you, but not in the same way. And there it is."

And there it is, his mind kept saying to him. This was a long time later—several hours, and many drinks, and many bars later. "It's a good thing this is Sunday night," he said to Bonnie. "Don't have to go to work on Sunday night. And there it is."

"There what is?" Bonnie asked him, rather edgily. "You keep saying that."

"Do I? Monotonous fellow. Always was. That's the whole trouble."

"Still," Bonnie said, "I'm glad you called me up. I was just sitting in that damn hotel without a thing to do. And I was thinking about you, too," said Bonnie. "That's the funny thing. I was thinking it's been a long time since you took me out—and wondering what the matter was. And the phone rang."

"Ping," said Hobey.

"What?"

"Skip it. Sound effect, is all. Go on with your fascinating story."

Bonnie eyed him suspiciously, and she said, "Is that a dirty crack? It sounds like one." She looked aggrieved, and added plaintively, "What's the matter with you anyway? What did you call me up at all for, if you were going to act this way?"

He didn't know himself why he had called her; and he wished he hadn't. Glutton for punishment, he told himself. Everything she did and said was irritating to him beyond reason. Her shrill arrival was the first thing, and she had been at it ever since. She bossed the waiter, like an empress talking to a slave. She ordered Scotch and ginger ale—an inexcusable combination. There were French rolls in a basket on a red-checked tablecloth, and Bonnie was no sooner seated than she began tearing one apart, dissecting it into small pieces, even before any butter was brought. The table was a mess of crumbs in a minute. Bonnie planted both elbows in these, then found herself uncomfortable, and brushed the crumbs from the elbows with her hands. Water was brought in goblets, and she had always imprinted hers with a decalcomania of lipstick.

"You didn't answer my question," Bonnie said complainingly. "I asked you what was the matter with you? You're in such a funny mood tonight."

"Yeah. Funny as hell. Let's talk about something else," Hobey said. "Let's wonder where they got this rotgut whiskey, and whether it'll kill us. Skol," he added, and emptied his glass at one gulp.

"You don't seem to mind it too much," Bonnie said.

"Drink enough of it and you don't mind anything," Hobey said "—much. Or so the rumor goes."

He beckoned the waiter. "Another double hair tonic," he said amiably; and the waiter, also amiable, said, "Yes, sir."

Bonnie said, "if you don't like it why do you drink it?"

"To get drunk. I thought we covered that point."

"I've never seen you drunk," she said with interest.

"There's a treat in store for you, then, baby," Hobey said. "Tonight's your night."

It seemed to amuse her, and she said, "Do you really get bad? What do you do when you're drunk?"

"I'm marvelous," he said. "I know all the answers. I'm so lucid it would frighten you to death. It does me. Do you know anything about roots?" he said suddenly. "Roots go down very deep, it seems."

"What?" Bonnie said blankly. "Say, what are you talking about?"

"Shall I spell it?" he said. "It's quite a simple work."

"But what the hell made you think about roots?" Bonnie said wonderingly. "Right out of a clear sky?"

"Like a bolt from the blue, you mean."

"Well, what did?"

"The human mind is very strange," Hobey said. "Let's order something to eat, shall we? How's that lusty island appetite of yours—okay?"

"I wish you wouldn't keep reminding me that I'm a hick."

"Since I'm one myself, I don't see why."

"You're not, though. You got all over being one years ago. You've really made a lot of yourself, Hobey. I hope I do."

"Yeah, it's a fine thing," he said. "It gets you places, no doubt about that. Also it gives you delusions of grandeur, and you think you're quite a fellow! And then you get ideas, and aspirations, and then . . . Socko! And that's that. Skol," he said again, and again drank.

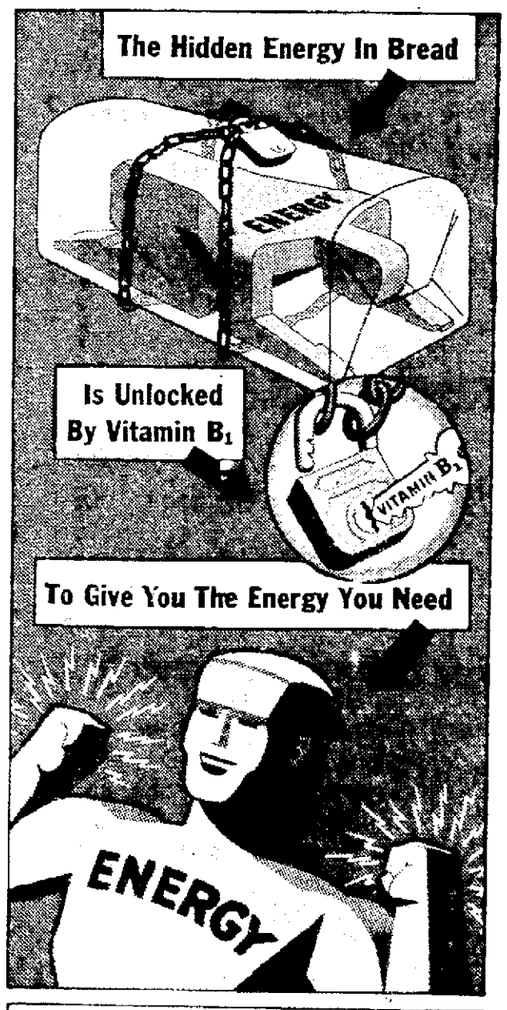
SCIENCE DISCOVERS VITAMIN B_1 NECESSARY TO HELP TRANSFORM BREAD INTO ENERGY



Photomicrograph Of Vitamin B_1 Magnified 1000 Times. In One Year An Adult Needs 145,850 To 522,640 Units Of Vitamin B_1.

Yet Of The Millions Who Rely Upon Bread For Up To 35% Of Their Daily Energy—3 Out Of 4 Fail To Get A Good Diet, U. S. Officials Say. Thus, Can Fail To Get Enough Vitamin B_1

New Wonder Bread Thrills Thousands Everywhere Because:
(1) Contains Vitamin B_1 (2) Slo-Baked For Lasting Freshness
(3) Tastes Better (4) Proves Easier-To-Slice

WHAT everybody knows is that millions of people rely upon bread for up to 35% of their daily energy.

But what you may not know is that you must have Vitamin B_1 to help transform the bread you eat into the energy you need.

Science today proves conclusively that it takes Vitamin B_1 to unlock bread's hidden energy.

Now—according to U. S. Government Health Officials, 3 out of 4 people fail to get a good diet: thus can fail to get enough Vitamin B_1 naturally.

This does not mean that you lack Vitamin B_1 so badly the bread you eat does you no good. But it does mean that your body cannot properly transform bread into the energy you must have these days unless you get sufficient Vitamin B_1.

A New Kind Of Bread

Now, wise Mother Nature put Vitamin B_1 into wheat. But—in making bread whiter—man took it out.

Then Theodore Earle patented a way to retain more natural vitamins and minerals in flour.

And mass production by American industry made possible further additions of the Vitamin B_1 needed in the bread. A bread now better for flavor and better for health than before.

It's Doubly Fresh

Then, too, this new Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it; fresh when you eat it.

Because it is slo-baked for lasting freshness—baked 13% longer than many ordinary kinds.

See how much longer it stays fresh on the table and in the lunch box.

In addition, Wonder's slo-baking method gives you bread with a richer flavor now.

And—a firmer, tenderer texture. You'll find it easy to slice—and it leaves no crumbs.

Get new Wonder Bread at your grocer's today. You'll be glad you did!

Only Wonder Bread is made this way from Earle Patented Process Flour—U. S. Pat. Nos. 2148306, 2232697, 2155219, 2232696.

NOT THE TIME FOR QUIBBLING

ST. LOUIS—(UP)—Police here believe they have discovered the meanest man of the new year.

The wind howled, the snow flew and the thermometer nosedived when a citizen telephoned the station, thus:

"I want a man detailed to the corner in front of my home. There is a bus stop there and some of them trample on my grass. I want people kept off my grass."

Police comment to the request is unavailable.

WANTED SCRAP TO GET THERE

SANTA ROSA, Calif.—(UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Melnick sent their contribution to the war metal drive—consisting of a brass mortar and pestle and a copper mixing bowl which had come into the possession of their family 162 years ago—direct to President Roosevelt.

They were afraid that if they were turned into the community pile, someone might grab them off for their value as antiques. They were the choicest heirlooms of the Melnick family.
